ECONOMY BILL
MAIN CONFLICT
UP TO CONGRESSHouse Labors With Proposal To Accept
Hoover's Plan

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Hopeful of reaching an early solution of one of the controversies barring congressional adjournment, the House today pushed toward a decision on whether to furlough government employees or stick to a flat pay cut proposal.

A conference committee has reached an accord on everything in the national economy bill except how to reduce the government payroll to add the billion dollar tax measure balance the budget.

President Hoover's furlough plan for a month's vacation without pay is estimated to save $80,000,000, while the House proposal for a flat pay cut of ten per cent on all salaries over $1,200 is expected to save $112,000,000. The Senate has approved the Hoover plan.

Adoption of the pay cut would bring the total saving from $162,000,000 to $187,000,000. That much or more is estimated to be needed to balance the budget, along with the new tax rates becoming effective tomorrow.

Consider Relief

Driving forward to a vote, the Senate considered amendments to the $2,000,000,000 Democratic unemployment relief bill while a Senate committee was besieged with pleas for its enactment to ease the lot of the unfortunate.

A long line of witnesses, including Protestants, Catholics and Jews, told the Manufacturers committee that it was the duty of Congress to provide jobs through a building program. Some argued for the $5,500,000,000 La Follette public works bond issue bill.

Opposed By Hoover

The administration is opposed to a bond issue as provided in both measures. Its leaders are seeking a compromise.

The Senate adopted an amendment to the $2,000,000,000 bill, sponsored by Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.), to permit loans for publicly owned bridges paid for partly by tolls and partly by taxes.

Senator Couzens (R., Mich.), entered a motion to reconsider, saying such projects would not be self-liquidating. The amendment was offered by Senator Broussard (D., La.).

An amendment by Senator Fletcher (D., Fla.), was adopted adding canals to the list of self-liquidating public projects, for which loans could be made to private construction corporations.

Bill Is Approved

The Johnson bill for free distribution to the unemployed of surplus government cloth and wearing apparel was approved today by the House Labor committee.

It would direct the Chief Coordinator to determine the surplus stocks held by government departments of clothing, shoes, hats, clothing and articles from which wearing apparel may be made.

These surpluses would be turned over to the Red Cross, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans for free distribution to unemployed persons and their families during the winter of 1932-33.

The bill is sponsored by Representative Johnson (D., Okla.).

'Aimee's Husband
In Court Today

Los Angeles, June 20.—(AP)—Investigations, threats and counter-threats having marked the warming up process of the trial, David Hutton, choir singer-husband of Aimee Semple McPherson, was Hutton, the noted evangelist, was called into today to defend himself in a $200,000 breach of promise action brought by Myrtle Joan St. Pierre, a nurse.

The evangelist, who announced she intends to "stick by Dave through thick and thin," will be unable to attend the court sessions. She is in a sanitarium with an illness she developed during a recent tour of Central America. So serious is her illness, regarded plans for her to keep all details of the trial from her.

Suit was filed by Miss St. Pierre last September after the marriage of the singer to the evangelist.

5,000 Rotarians
In Big Convention

Seattle, June 20.—(AP)—Trains and ships brought Rotarians from many corners of the world here today for their twenty-third annual international convention, and the number of delegates passed the 5,000 mark.

Not until 8 P. M., tonight will the convention be formally called to order. Officials of the city, the state, the Seattle Rotary Club and the Vancouver Rotary District will give formal welcomes. R. L. (Bob) Hill of Columbia, Mo., chairman of the convention committee, will preside at the opening session. Sydney W. Paswell of London is president.

During the afternoon a general assembly of all voting delegates was planned to discuss matters pertaining to Rotary organization.

Numerous New Taxes To Become Effective Tuesday

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Today is the last tax-free day for matches, automobiles, candy, radios, face powder, yachts, and all the tremendous list of articles brought into the federal government's revenue raising net by the new emergency tax law.

Anybody who has been waiting to buy, perhaps expecting prices to drop some more, had better do some hurried shopping, for a nine percent tax will be added to all price tags on taxed items by tomorrow.

After tonight the movies (except those where you can get in for 40 cents or less) will cost more so will telegrams and long distance telephone calls, while bank checks will cost two cents apiece.

It will not be necessary, however, to stick three-cent stamps on letters until next month.

TIRE PRICES BOOSTED

New York, June 20.—(AP)—Leading tire and rubber companies will observe the inauguration of new federal excise tax schedules tomorrow by marking up prices from 11 to 15 per cent.

This increase will take care of the added 10 per cent tax, and will leave a little over for added sales profit.

The rubber industry for over three years has been operating under the heavy handicap of declining prices—both for crude rubber and for finished products—and welcomes the increase as a boon. Some executives believe it may signalize a return to orderly market conditions in the industry.

In 1931 the six leading American manufacturers of tires sold $520,000,000 worth of products, yet they suffered an aggregate loss of $15,000,000. Further recession in crude rubber prices more than wiped out profits.

BANK BEATS TAX

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—A very minor portion of the new stamp taxes—that expected from counter checks—will be lost to the government if all banking institutions in the country follow the lead of a Kokomo, Ind., bank.

This institution, it is reported, has issued "receipts" to be used in lieu of counter checks.

The legal division of the Treasury held that "if this paper is in the form of a mere receipt it is not taxable."

GAS PRICES UP

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—Gasoline retail prices will be increased 11 cents per gallon tomorrow by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

The one cent advance is the new federal tax, while the ten-cent cent, the company stated is "cover in part the tax on pipe line transportation of oil and the expense of collecting the taxes, including credit losses of taxes paid in advance of collection."

Lubricating oil will be increased one cent a quart or 4 cents a gallon.

The Sterling law firm is representing Mrs. Mamie Schick of Oliva, Minn., formerly Mamie Gale of near Lee Center.

Pankhurst, deceased, on several occasions, thereby causing her great and irreparable injury and damage and much mental anguish.

Two local law firms represent heirs and beneficiaries of the estate.

COST HIS LIFENew York Gangster
Slain: Refuses To Name Murderers

New York, June 20.—(AP)—Vannie Higgins, who got careless, is dead, and the police are hunting "rats."

"The rats," said Vannie Higgins, who was one-two-three among the big names of gangland until guns erased him yesterday, "they even tried to wipe out my family."

There wasn't much time to talk, for he had been shot four times. One bullet passed through his abdomen; but just before he died yesterday several hours after he was fired upon by mobsters, he said:

"I ain't saying who did it. I'll take care of them."

But he died, and the police are trying to "take care of them."

They sought three men today for questioning. One of them is Salvy Spitalo, whom Col. Charles A. Lindbergh named as an intermediary in the baby case. The other two police hope may know something about the Higgins murder are "Tough Willie McCabe and William Bailey, one of Higgins' 'boys'."

Higgins, who posed as a fisherman but who was reputed to be a power in the liquor racket, was shot down early yesterday by eight men who opened fire on him, his wife and their eight-year-old daughter on a Brooklyn street. One bullet narrowly missed the child as her father, bleeding from fatal wounds, ran from the attackers' fire only to collapse a moment later.

Rockford Veteran

SENATORS CAN'T MAKE "SICK MAN"
TALK; WATCH HIMWilliam Fox Again Escapes Examination
On Stock Deals

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—The Senate Banking committee, by a unanimous vote, today refused to release William Fox, the former film capitalist, from a subpoena to appear before it in its stock market investigation.

Chairman Norbeck explained after the committee's session that no action was taken on Fox's request that he be permitted to return to New York to recuperate from illness that is preventing his appearance.

In this request, made through a personal representative of Fox, the latter promised to hold himself subject to the call of the committee.

Norbeck said the committee did not refuse or accede to this request, feeling "you can't make a sick man talk" but indicated that failure to act was tantamount to permitting Fox to go back to New York but under subpoena.

Wanted For Days

He added with a smile, however, that if he (Fox) took a motor trip to New York the "committee" will feel that he was sufficiently well to testify.

The committee has been attempting for several days to get Fox to appear. The film operator, however, ill in his hotel here, has steadfastly refused to attend and has sent to the committee statements from physicians that his appearance would endanger his life.

He is suffering from diabetes, P. A. Hornady, his doctor, notified Norbeck today that he had examined Norbeck this morning and that his condition was about the same except he has contracted a head cold.

Norbeck said the stock market inquiry hearings would be resumed Thursday with "the lambs" to be heard. He would not name the witnesses scheduled to appear.

Banking Bills Killed

The committee today decided to turn all bills urging bank deposit guarantees over to a sub-committee of five, which conceded kills action at this session.

Included in the Stagall bill approved by the House, and a measure sponsored by Senator Fletcher (D., Fla.), who moved that the sub-committee be named to consider them.

Chairman Norbeck of the full committee will appoint the three other members within a short time. He and Fletcher will be members.

Action is considered by leaders to be impossible because of the few remaining day in which Congress is expected to remain in session.

TRUCK CRASHED
INTO ABUTMENT
EAST OF DIXONBadly Damaged: Several Minor Accidents
Over Week End

A large tractor-trailer type truck was almost totally demolished Sunday morning about 2:30 when it crashed into the abutment of the bridge over the Franklin Creek. W. H. Austin of this city, who conducts a fleet of trucks, was driving west on the Lincoln Highway, the tractor pulling a truck chassis. The motor of the tractor was driven back under the driver's seat, the front end being reduced to a mass of twisted steel and broken castings by the force of the impact.

The truck in coming down the incline, swerved to one side and crashed into the guard rail fence, which was torn down for several feet and thrown into the Franklin Creek. The fact that the wheels deflected when striking the guard rail prevented the truck plunging forward down a 25-foot embankment into the creek. The driver escaped without injury.

A Plymouth sedan driven by Malcolm Brown of this city was badly wrecked about 3 o'clock Sunday morning on South Peoria avenue, the driver escaping with only minor injuries. Driving south, the car swerved to the left side of the roadway, climbed over the curb and crashed into a large tree.

Cars driven by Mrs. Donald Rosecrans and William H. Zahn collided at the intersection of Fourth street and Ottawa avenue Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock, both drivers escaping without serious injuries. The cars were damaged to some extent and were taken to garages for repairs.

TWO ALLEGED "RUBBER" CHECK
ARTISTS, WANTED HERE, UNDER ARREST IN CONNERSVILLE, IND.

Noel Cash and F. C. Campbell are being held by the police authorities of Connersville, Ind., for the issuance of worthless checks, according to information contained in a long distance telephone message from the Chief of Police of this city to Chief J. D. Van Bibber Sunday afternoon. It is expected that the pair will be brought back to answer to similar charges when the cases are disposed of in Indiana.

Early last April, two men visited neighborhood grocery stores in Dixon and ordered bills of groceries. In one instance, the amount of the bill was small and a check for $15.83 was rendered and cashed by the grocer. The check was made out on a counter check of a local bank to George Stewart and was signed by Robert Miller, district manager of the Texaco Oil Co. The license number on the stranger's car was taken at one grocery where they left without taking their order and before presenting the check, which information when furnished the police, aided materially in their apprehension.

The license, it was found, was issued to Noel Cash of Chicago, who had left the address given when the license was obtained. The information furnished by Chief Van Bibber to the Chicago police, resulted in the apprehension of the two men at Connersville, Ind. Saturday, where they were reported to have been obtaining funds by practicing the same game as undertaken here.

LONG SICKNESS
OF E. E. GIBSON
ENDS THIS NOONPopular Business and Lodge Man Died
At His Home

Everett E. Gibson, owner of the City laundry, and popular business man of this city, passed away at 11:30 this morning at his home, 210 North Dixon Avenue. About six weeks ago he showed marked improvement and he was able to leave the hospital and was taken to his home. Weakened by weeks of confinement, he suffered a relapse, with the result that death ended his long suffering to-day. His passing from the community removes one of the most popular and active of business men. He was a member of the Dixon lodge of Elks, where he was active on several committees and for a number of years had been one of the most active of the officers of the Kiwanis club of this city. No funeral arrangements had been completed this afternoon, and with the obituary, will be announced later.

THREATS LEAD TO DISMISSAL
ROBBERY SUITOfficials Of Robbed
Bank Fear For Themselves, Families

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—Machine gun threats prompted Cook County officials today to dismiss a bank robbery charge against Danmy McGeoghegan, south side beer hustler.

Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler asked Judge John Prystalski to noli-prosecute the charge of robbing the State Bank of Clearing, a suburb, of $60,000 on December 6, 1930. A jury recently disagreed.

"If your reasons are not secret I would like to know them," the court said.

"Lambert Bere and John Campbell, officials of the bank who identified McGeoghegan in his first trial, asked me to do it," Butler said. "They have been under guard in a hotel since April 29, and their families and the bank need them."

"I don't believe the State's Attorney should stand here and confess he is not big enough to keep these men protected," the court said. "I think Mr. Bere is big enough to take care of himself."

"Not when he is faced with a machine gun, your honor," Butler replied.

Judge Prystalski signed the order saying the state could take the responsibility.

The gangster, grinning widely, walked from the room, free.

Famous Pitcher Of Yesteryear Is Dead

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—Baseball has lost another one of its famous old timers of the eighties.

Charles Getzlin, the pitching half of the famous old "Pretzel Battery" for the Detroit Tigers in the eighties, was stricken with a heart attack at his home here last night and succumbed shortly afterwards. He was 64 years old.

The other half of the famous "Pretzel Battery" was Charlie Gansel, who like Getzlin was German. They formed one of the strongest combinations in baseball at that time and chalked up victory after victory for the Tigers, finally landing the world series championship in a 14-game barnstorming series against the St. Louis Browns.

When Detroit dropped out of the National League in '88, Getzlin joined the Boston Braves and pitched through 1891 when he left the big leagues. His best year with the Tigers was in '87 when he won 29 games.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon with many baseball stars of yesterday in attendance.

Indianapolis, June 20.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, today summoned a conference of miners and operators of both Indiana and Illinois to consider the advisability of assembling an interstate joint conference to negotiate a uniform wage agreement.

The conference will be held at international headquarters here at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Lewis invited two representatives of the mine workers and two from the Coal Operators' Association. He reviewed the wage situation in Indiana and Illinois, pointing out that no agreements have been reached in either, and that the situation is becoming acute.

The telegram was sent to John Templeton, Terre Haute, president of the Indiana Coal Operators' Association. W. J. Jenkins, Chicago, president of W. J. Illinois Coal Operators' Association, also was telegraphed. Lewis also telegraphed John H. Walker, president of District 11 and John H. Walker, president of District 12.

WATERWAY FOR ROCK RIVER IS
DROPPED BY U. S.Final Notice Is Sent Out By Division
Chief Engineer

Any possibility of deepening the channel of Rock river from Janesville, Wis., to Sterling, Ill., through Dixon, appears to have been dropped, according to government waterway interests in Rock Island, where the office of the War department for this district is located. Col. George R. Spaulding is said to preliminary examination effecting have made an adverse report on the Rock river and the Hennepin canal feeder from Rock Falls to Wyanet. Col. Spaulding is the division chief of the United States engineers and his report follows hearing conducted at Sterling and at Rock Island last August by Gen. E. Edgerton, chief of engineers in the Rock Island district.

The basis on which Col. Spaulding bases his report to proposed deepening of the channel of the feeder and the river is that the route of the proposed project would be too circuitous, thus making the route a handicap over the transportation by means other than water.

Interested parties can appeal the decision of Col. Spaulding to the Board on Rivers and Harbors at Washington, the notice states.

A meeting was held in this city last summer at which time Congressman Hull of Peoria and others spoke in favor of the deepening of the channel of Rock river, but later, the Dixon city council opposed the plan because of extensive changes which would become necessary in raising the levels of the two bridges at this point.

DEMOCRATS IN SENATE TALKED
OVER WET PLANK

No Agreement Reached
At Discussion In Capital Today

Washington, June 20—(AP)—With their national convention only a week off, a group of Senate Democrats met today to discuss the party's prohibition and economic platform declarations and those participating said no agreement was reached.

The meeting was held in the office of Senator Hull (D. Tenn.) who has been prominently mentioned as the probable chairman of the Resolutions committee which will draft the platform.

Hull plans to leave for Chicago tomorrow, and said he wanted to obtain the views of party leaders here before departing.

Among those who attended the conference were Senators Walsh of Montana; George of Georgia; Pittman of Nevada; Dill of Washington; Harrison of Mississippi; Byrnes of South Carolina; Bankhead of Alabama.

Senator Dill has drafted a prohibition plan which has received favorable consideration from a number of Senators. It proposes submission to the people of an amendment to repeal the 18th Amendment and would submit no alternative.

Senator Dill was one of the first supporters of Governor Roosevelt of New York for the Democratic nomination and has been in close touch with him for months.

TO TELL STORY OF HEALING BY
DIVINE GRACE

Miss Pribbenow Will Be Speaker At Assembly Tonight

"The Back Side of Japan, the Side Some Say That God Forgot" was beautifully illustrated with lantern slide pictures, with a travelogue by Rev. Clarence H. Erickson at the Assembly Park Tabernacle last night.

"He that hath an ear, let him hear," was the text used by the Evangelist. "When a book as concise as the Bible repeats a sentence thirteen different times, that sentence must have some importance," said Mr. Erickson. "We are able to control our ears if we so desire so that we can hear only certain things—we can hear the traffic noises or not, just as we wish. And so it is when we hear God's voice—we can hear, or not hear, which ever we desire. How much happier we would be if we would listen and obey the still small voice when it speaks to our hearts."

Mrs. C. H. Erickson, wife of the evangelist, very ably took charge of the song service, and her beautiful contralto voice added much to the program. An eleven-piece orchestra, under the direction of Vernon S. Wilson furnished musical entertainment during the first part of the service and accordion numbers were played by Miss Anna Pribbenow.

It was announced that Miss Pribbenow will tell at tonight's service how she was healed in answer to prayer. Rev. Erickson will preach on the subject, "How May We Be Healed?" Services are each night at 7:30 P. M.

NORTHERN LIGHTS

WHEN snow lies white on mountain height
And winter stalks by hill and glen,
The merry dancers of the night
Are at their joyous jigs again.

Above Ben Mhor their dancing floor
In silver radiance is spread,
With sound of waters on the shore
And star-shine winking overhead.

In green and blue of rainbow hue,
And red and yellow, clear as flame,
Their footsteps fall as list as dew,
These merry sprites without a name!

And to and fro they whirl and glow,
And tread their measures, gay and free,
But when they come shall no man know
And whence they vanish no man see!

—Elizabeth Fleming.

Wedding at Spring Lake on Thursday

A very beautiful but simple wedding service took place at the club rooms at Spring Lake, Thursday evening. The bride was Miss Helen Louise Barton, daughter of S. I. Barton, of Rochelle, and the groom was Raymond L. Larson, of Hinckley. The ring ceremony was used and was read by Rev. F. A. Campbell.

The club rooms were converted into a veritable bower. The lobby was decorated in green and white, ferns, palms, and peonies being used. The dining room was decorated with pink and white, with pink the prevailing color.

Mrs. Winifred Pentz, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor, and the groom was attended by Luke Pentz, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Pentz wore a dress of flowered silk and carried pink roses.

Mrs. Larson is a graduate of the Rochelle high school and Carthage College and has been a successful teacher in the schools of Lee county. Mr. Larson is superintendent of the Hinckley Construction Co. On the return of the young couple from a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, New York City, Washington and other eastern points they will make their home in Hinckley.

Claims Dry Delegates Were Silenced

Evanston, Ill., June 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, charges many dry delegates to the Republican national convention "were deliberately silenced by the steam roller methods of Republican bosses."

She declared yesterday she did not believe the G. O. P. prohibition plank was written with the acquiescence of dry leaders and censured the Resolutions committee which she called "hand-picked" by the administration, for "disregarding" recommendations of 23 dry organizations "for a firm stand on the 18th Amendment."

The "steam roller," she said, was applied to the drys during the hearing of the Resolutions committee on platform planks the night before the big wet-dry debate on the floor of the Republican convention.

On the prohibition plank as adopted by the G. O. P., Mrs. Boole made no comment.

MENU FOR FAMILY

By Mrs. Alexander George
A SUMMER PARTY
(Afternoon or evening)
Frozen Fruit Salad Butterhorns
Strawberry Sherbet
Angel Food Cake
Coffee Salted Nuts

Frozen Fruit Salad For 8
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup whipped cream
1 1-2 cups diced canned pineapple

1 cup diced peaches
1 cup diced pears
1-2 cup red cherries
Mix mayonnaise and cream. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into tray in mechanical refrigerator and in 4 hours salad will be frozen. Serve on lettuce and top with more mayonnaise.

Butterhorns
1 cake compressed yeast
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
1 cup milk (lukewarm)
1-2 cup fat
1-2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs

4 1/2 cups flour
Crumble yeast and add water. Let stand 5 minutes. Add milk, fat (melted), sugar, salt, eggs and 1-2 the flour. Beat 2 minutes. Add rest of flour, mixing thoroughly.

Place in greased bowl. Cover with cloth and let rise in moderately warm place until dough has doubled in bulk. It will require about 4 hours for dough to rise.

Divide dough in two parts and roll out each part until circles 8 inches in diameter have been formed.

Use sharp knife and cut circles into halves. Then cut each half into eight pieces, making 16 triangular shaped pieces of dough from each circle. The dough is rather soft so that even pieces can not be cut, but by pulling with fingers the dough can be made as desired.

Beginning at wide side of the triangular shaped pieces roll up each piece. Place butterhorns side by side on a greased pan and let rise until doubled in bulk. It will require about 4 hours to rise. Cover butterhorns with cloth to prevent crust from forming on tops. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. A good fat mixture is made by using half butter and half lard.

With the thermometer steadily rising, hearty salads make excellent dishes. They are easy and interesting to cook, prepare and are popular with the entire family.

Meals in which salads play the principal part can be largely prepared early in the morning, allowing the home-maker several hours for something else before lunch-time. Salad materials must be prepared some time in advance of the time they will be needed for mixing and serving; consequently luncheon can be served in short order when it is wanted.

The combination of meat and vegetables is always desirable and aids in maintaining a balanced diet. Macaroni and rice also blend well with meats and fish.

Many salad makers have a tendency to cut their salad materials too fine. Some of the secondary ingredients that are used mainly for flavoring should be finely minced, but the important materials should not be made too small. Of course, it should never be necessary to cut any article of food in the salad, but an attractive salad should be crisp and definite, each article neatly and uniformly cut.

One and one half cups cold cooked green beans, 1 cup cold cooked ham, 1 cup cold cooked tongue, Bermuda onion, green pepper. Cut ham and tongue in pieces the same size as the beans. Mix and add 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice and 4 tablespoons of salad oil beaten with 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Cover and let stand on ice for an hour or longer. When ready to serve drain from dressing. Remove seeds and white pith of peppers and cut in rings. Peel onion and cut in slices. Let stand in iced salt water for ten minutes. Then drain and separate into rings. Pile alternating rings of onion and green pepper one above another on a bed of lettuce. Fill this little pepper and onion cup with the salad mixture and mask with mayonnaise.

Liver and Cabbage Salad
This salad is unusual and delicious. One cup diced liver, 2 tablespoons minced cooked bacon.

Smoky Pass
This story will be of interest primarily to those who like tales of the north and description of outlaw adventures in a wild, unruly country fevered with the desire for gold.

Spawn of the North
Remember Rex Beach's "Silver Horde"? This is another story of Alaska and the salmon fishing; of a girl from the States, a man of the North, and a red-bearded villain or two.

Plum Bun
By the author of the much-liked "Chinaberry Tree" Angella Morgan is an educated colored girl fair enough to pass as a white. She goes to New York and embarks upon an unhappy love affair with a white man. Her younger sister, who is unmistakably colored also goes to New York, but lives in Harlem. Anthony Cross enters the lives of both girls, not knowing that they are sisters.

Fatal Interview
A small volume of 52 love sonnets, with a depth of feeling which places it among the finest collections in modern poetry. The book is dedicated to Eleanor Wylie with these lines: "When I think of you."

con.
1 cup diced celery.
1 up shredded and crisped cabbage.
French dressing, mayonnaise or curly endive.
Marinate liver and bacon in the French dressing for one hour. A few drops of onion juice may be added to the dressing if wanted. Add celery and cabbage and mix lightly. Serve on a bed of endive and top with mayonnaise.

Sweetbread Salad
Sweetbread salad can take the place of chicken salad for the party affairs, and is much easier and quicker to prepare unless you use canned chicken. The sweetbreads are prepared as usual; that is, soaked in cold salted water for an hour, simmered in salted acidulated water for twenty minutes and then blanched in cold water. Remove all membrane and connecting tissue and cut in neat dice. Two cups prepared sweetbreads, 2 cups shredded celery, 1-2 cup blanched and coarsely shredded almonds, 1 cup peeled and seeded white grapes.

Marinate sweetbreads in French dressing made with a combination of lemon juice and tarragon vinegar. Let stand on ice for an hour or longer. When ready to serve drain from dressing and combine with prepared materials. Add mayonnaise to make moist and serve in nests of lettuce hearts. Garnish with thin slices of pimiento-stuffed olives.

Cucumbers and sweetbreads are a favorite combination. They are usually combined in equal parts and served on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Fish salads are liked by many persons. Lobster, crab-meat, tuna fish and salmon and shrimp are generally used, but there is an excellent salad made of a combination of shrimp and scallops. Baby scallops are desirable, but, failing these, cut large ones into small pieces before cooking, in boiling salted water. Care must be taken not to over-cook scallops, for if they are cooked too long they will become hard and tough. Use two cups prepared scallops, with:

1 cups prepared shrimps
3 cups diced celery
Mix with mayonnaise and serve on a bed of lettuce with a garnish of thin slices of pickled beets.

PUNISHMENT HAS STRANGE RESULTS

Mrs. Smith came into the nursery proudly carrying two blue cloth cushions. The nursery had just been done over in fine style—newly painted floor with a checkeredboard on it in great blocks, new pale blue woodwork and shell pink wallpaper with Mother Goose figure all over it.

Jackie was to play as he had never played before—in an orderly room in an orderly manner. Shelves on one side to hold his new constructive toys, small exercisers in well disguised forms, a tiny table on which to do his cutting out and coloring. Yes, Jackie was to grow up into a fine orderly man with a fine orderly mind and a well developed body. The stage was all set.

"Come up here, darling," she called, "and try these new cushions. Now you can keep yourself all 'nice and clean.' But before Jackie had time to scramble up the stairs her eye beheld a shocking sight.

Such Activity
The wall beyond the table was marked generously with bright green oil crayon. Puss-in-Boots looked at the world through a verdant circle. Humpty Dumpty had small-pox, and Baa-Baa Black Sheep had javelin of green stick cruelly through his woolly hide. For a solid square yard every small neighbor had been touched up in a manner startling to behold. Jackie came rushing in to be caught up, turned over on his bed and spanked. When that was over he was jerked over to the pasture and shaken so that he couldn't hear at first just what he was being punished for.

But after his mother's hysterics were over and his sobbing stopped he discovered that his attempt to help in fixing up his pretty room had been received with contempt. It was a funny world! Some things you did you got coddled over for and patted and kissed, and other things that you brought down the sky on your head.

There was more wall paper, and before night the murals were restored to their pristine beauty. Mustn't Touch

This is what happened to Jackie. He knew he must never touch any more wall paper with crayon, but now he itched terribly to draw on somebody's wall, not to help decorate, but for another very queer reason he couldn't explain. It just seemed that he must draw.

He stood it for two days, then the chance offered itself. He was over at Grandma's and the man was painting the house white. Jackie saw the green door. He didn't care for green much now. He got a whisk broom out of the hall and when the painter was eating his lunch behind the lilacs, he smeared the door with white. It dripped on the stone step and hall rug, but nobody was around to stop him. He had learned secretiveness.

The psychology of punishment is strange. There are right kinds and wrong. A child punished when a good motive lies behind his action will develop various things—none of them desirable—which he will carry in some form or other as long as he lives.

The topic for the evening under the direction of Leslie Marshall, for the B. Y. P. U., was the answer to the question, "How Honest are we as individuals and groups?" The meeting opened with several songs and sentence prayers. It pleased us to have so many of the young people take part in these prayers.

Leslie told the following sketch to open the meeting. "Folks," said the colored minister, "the subject of my sermon dis evenin' am 'Liars.' How many in de congregation has done read the 69th chapter of Matthew?" Nearly every hand in the audience was raised immediately.

"Dat's right," said his reverence. "You is just de folks I want to preach to. Dere is no 69th chapter of Matthew."

The topic opened with the discussion as to whether or not all men are liars. We concluded that we all had had a share in this and that it was not always to know the truth and to want to tell the truth at all times.

That it is important to tell the truth was shown. That like Ananias we may sometimes lie in a way that may not seem like one to us, nevertheless it is a lie. If each one present would refrain from listening to anything that wasn't true about people or affairs they could not pass the news along, thereby saving the hearts of man of their friends.

The question then was asked,

I die too.
In my throat, bereft
Like yours, of air,
No sound is left,
Nothing is there
To make a word of grief."

The topic opened with the discussion as to whether or not all men are liars. We concluded that we all had had a share in this and that it was not always to know the truth and to want to tell the truth at all times.

How honest are we? Do we want to know the truth. Or are we like the Negro princess who thought herself very beautiful until a missionary brought her a mirror and she saw how ugly she really was, and dashed the mirror on the rocks. She was displeased with her looks.

We are all like that. When we read God's book, the Bible and see how we should be, then stop to realize how far short we are in being that, we may say "the Bible is not true." That is not fair. It is merely showing up our blemishes. Is everyone in Dixon striving to tell the truth from the city officials to the commonest laborer? Ask yourself that.

Next Wednesday evening the young people will continue their study of the Gospel of John, at 6:45 P. M.

Bernice Madden will lead the meeting next Sunday evening. The topic will be "How does Christ meet the needs of the world?"

BYRD'S GOOD SHIP BEAR.
When Admiral Byrd goes back to the Antarctic next winter he will take along several up-to-date tractors, to see if they might not do better at pulling sledges over the frozen wastes than the traditional dog teams. But the ship that he will sail in will be the famous Bear, built a few years after the Civil War and one of the world's greatest veterans of polar voyaging.

This odd mixing of the ultra-modern and the very old suggests that while some of our mechanical contrivances are a lot handier than anything our grandfathers had, there are fields in which we haven't improved much on their work. The tractor may be a fine thing for a polar explorer, but for traveling about in the stormy, ice-filled polar seas Admiral Byrd can find nothing better than an ancient wooden vessel that was built before he himself was born.

The modern steel ship, of course, is a triumph of ingenuity. Her engines, in themselves, are marvelous; compact, powerful, reliable, built to pump away as steadily as the human heart, they enable the ship to keep her schedule regardless of wind and weather.

But the old shipbuilders of a past generation, who worked in the wood instead of steel and placed their chief reliance on sails instead of engines—they, too, were masters of their craft.

Too often we romanticize about the old sailing ships so much that we forget how perfectly adapted they were for the job they had to do. They were beautiful to look upon, of course, and they could be unspeakably picturesque at times; but first and foremost they were utilitarian, and they represented quite as high an order of skill in design and construction as do their modern sisters, the steel steamships.

Look at the photographs of this ship Bear, some day. She looks out of date, with her square yards and her clipper bow. You think, as you look, that she ought to be a museum piece somewhere. But Admiral Byrd couldn't find a better ship for polar voyaging.

The old-time shipbuilders knew their job.

HAUSNER'S STORY.
Sometime during the next few days Stanley Hausner, the sea flyer, will come ashore from the tanker which picked him up after his plane came down in mid-ocean; and it will be very interesting to see what kind of story he tells of his remarkable experience.

To fly out over the ocean alone ought to be exciting enough, even if the flight is successful. But to be forced down at sea, as he was, to drift about on an empty ocean for a solid week and to be rescued at the very last moment—this constitutes an adventure such as few men have ever had.

How many times during that painful week, must he not have given up all hope of survival? What a bound his heart must have taken when that tanker finally poked her nose over the horizon and came his way! Let us hope that the young man is articulate enough to tell us just how he felt through it all. It ought to make an unusually engrossing story.

I am reputedly a comedian, but after seeing financial conditions of the world, I have decided I am as much an economist as financiers.—Charlie Chaplin.

I left Hollywood for one reason, because of the morality clause in my contract. They tell me, a former reporter, to be moral, and they turn out picture after picture depicting reporters as drunks and bums.—Gene Fowler, ex-scenario writer.

The success of the Five-Year Plan in Russia lies in carrying 160,000,000 people who had nothing into a position where they have something, have a great thirst for knowledge and will be demanding high-grade products.—Arthur G. McKee, American engineer who built Soviet steel plants.

The safety of the country requires the maintenance of the gold standard. The value of the American dollar must be maintained throughout the world.—Senator L. J. Dickinson in Republican keynote speech.

The turning point toward eventual prosperity in this country seems to have been reached.—Charles G. Dawes, in notice of resignation as president, Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

It would appear on the basis of present information that not less than $50,000,000 will be needed for the coming year for relief work (in New York City).—Welfare council report, New York.

There are two solutions (for real estate). Either cut loans in two or cut interest on existing mortgages to 4 or even 3 per cent and suspend amortization payments until there is a decided improvement.—Samuel A. Adams, Cleveland real estate man.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN PICTURES BY JOE KING

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The fake giraffe gave all the little bunch a laugh and Duncy had a hunch that they could have a lot of fun if more fake heads were found.

Said he, "Let's to the clown tent. Somebody there is bound to know if there are any heads that we can play with."

"That's not a bad idea, son! And we are always in for fun. You lead the way and we'll follow and I hope that we have luck."

"I've seen fake faces that were great and I, for one, won't hesitate to try one on. I only hope that my head won't get stuck."

So Duncy led them to a tent and right inside they promptly went. A friendly clown was half asleep. They roused him very quick.

One told him what they planned to do. Said he, "That's fine. I will help you. I have a couple fake heads that I am sure you'll think are slick."

One of them was a pussy cat. One Tiny said, "Gee, I like that. Please let me put it on my head. I will bet you will smile."

"I'd like to walk around in it and act real funny for a bit. I'll promise that I'll let the others try it after while."

"Go right ahead," the fat clown said. "Just slip it on your little head." The Tiny did and my but he was funny.

Another head was then brought out. It made the Tinies laugh and shout. Said Windy, "That's the strangest one I ever hope to see."

"It's an old lady," some one cried. "I'm going to stick my head inside and give you all another chance to laugh until you ache."

Then as his head slid right in, the kind old clown began to grin. Said he, "It's a fine fit and a funny sight you make."

(The Tinymites watch a funny race in the next story.)

A BOOK A DAY
TELLS HOW U.S. DEVELOPED ITS POLICY

If you've ever wondered just why the American government should be so concerned about the Japanese adventure in China, you can hardly do better than to read "America in the Pacific," by Foster Rhea Dulles.

Mr. Dulles goes back to colonial days to trace the development of the United States policy in the Far East. His book is exceedingly enlightening—and, if we ever get into real trouble over the Japanese Manchurian mixup, it will simply be invaluable.

He shows that the United States consciously or unconsciously, has been facing toward the setting sun ever since its infancy.

The Louisiana purchase had hardly been concluded before the nation was scheming to get a foothold on the Pacific coast. New England merchants were trading with China, eastern fur traders were doing business along the Following the Mexican War, Perry went out to awaken Japan from its long sleep. American traders began the infiltration process that was ultimately to make Hawaii an American territory. Alaska was bought from Russia. After 30 years of indecision, American Samoa was seized. And then came the Spanish War and the conquest of the Philippines.

The motive for all of this? Trade, the desire to get a fair share of the rich eastern commerce, the desire that now makes Uncle Sam keep a watchful eye on the things that are happening in China and Manchuria.

This book can hardly be recommended too strongly.

Chinese Temple for Chicago Fair

Model of Temple presented to Stockholm by Mr. Bendix.

China's finest Lama Temple—the Golden Pavilion of Jehol—is being rebuilt as an exhibit for Chicago's World's Fair.

The original has stood at Jehol—Summer residence of the Manchurian emperors—since 1767. On August 1, the replica will throw open its exquisitely carved doors to exposition visitors.

Through the generosity of Vincent Bendix, Chicago industrialist and art patron, Dr. Sven Hedin, celebrated Swedish explorer, spent two years in Inner Mongolia in quest of this outstanding example of Lama temple architecture.

Then Chinese architects and craftsmen copied the temple exactly, took it apart and sent the 10,000-odd parts to Chicago, where they must be refitted together—without the use of a single nail—like the parts of some gigantic Chinese puzzle.

The temple will be a glittering creation of red lacquer and gold, rising 60 feet from a stone pedestal, 4 feet high and 70 feet square. Copper shingles covered with pure gold leaf will form the double-decked roof. Twenty-eight lacquered columns 16 feet high will support the lower deck. Twenty-eight lacquered columns, 30 feet high, will form part of the wall. Twelve 37-foot columns will support the elaborately carved and gilded ceiling.

POET'S CORNER
SUCCESS

Success is speaking words of praise.
In cheering other people's ways.
In doing just the best you can.
With every task and every plan.
It's silence when your speech would hurt.
Politeness when your neighbor's curt.
It's deafness when the scandal flows.
And sympathy with others woes.
It's loyalty when duty calls.
It's courage when disaster falls.
It's patience when the hours are long.
It's found in laughter and in song.
It's in the silent time of prayer.
In happiness and in despair.
We find of life, and nothing less.
We find the thing we call success.

In Emergencies Your Telephone Is Priceless

A fire in your home or buildings would mean a great loss. A serious accident might be fatal unless you could reach the doctor at once. Or you might even be the victim of thieves or prowlers.

In emergencies like these, a telephone is priceless. At such times, its value is beyond comparison of costs. If you didn't have a telephone, you might regret it all the rest of your life.

Make sure that your loved ones are protected. See that they (and you) have a telephone handy—always. Call our office and we'll gladly help in every way we can.

The Value of the Telephone Is Greater Than the Cost

Above shows comparison in casualty rate (employees killed and injured per million man hours worked) on the Chicago & North Western Railway and all other Class I railroads of the United States for the last four years.

Chicago & North Western Railway's work in reducing fatalities and injuries among employees has been an important factor in winning the E. H. Harriman Gold Medal for safety, the highest award that can be given any railroad.

G. B. Vilas, General Manager of the Chicago & North Western, under whose direction the safety program has been carried on since July 1, 1929, accepted the medal at a special luncheon held in New York city Monday, June 20.

The Chicago & North Western Railway, the first railroad or industry to adopt a safety program (1910), had the lowest casualty rate (killed and injured per million man hours worked) in 1931 ever set by a railroad working more than 100,000,000 man hours. The low mark was 1.58. The North Western also shows the highest reduction percentage from 1923 of railroads of this class, having brought the casualty rate from 30.15 in 1923 to 1.58 in 1931 or a reduction of 94.73 per cent.

This employee campaign, together with the fact that there have been no passengers killed in train accidents in almost three years and that crossing accidents have been reduced in the face of increasing motor car travel, brought the North Western the coveted award.

Employees on the Galena Division, by reducing the casualty rate (killed and injured per million man hours worked) from 3.33 in 1930 to 1.19 in 1931, were largely instrumental in the Chicago & North Western Railway receiving the E. H. Harriman Gold Medal for safety which will be presented to G. B. Vilas, General Manager of the Chicago & North Western Railway at a luncheon Monday, June 20, at the Union League club in New York city.

In attaining the 1.19 casualty rate for 1931, there were no men killed and only 14 injured on the Galena Division as compared with 3 killed and 42 injured the previous year, a reduction of approximately 68 per cent.

The Harriman Gold Medal, recognized as the highest safety tribute that can be paid to any railroad, was given the Chicago & North Western for a combination of reasons, chief of which was the fact that its 1931 casualty rate of 1.19 is the best that has ever been set by any Class One railroad in the United States working 100,000,000 man hours or more and represents the largest reduction over 1923 that any railroad in the same classification has shown, namely 94.73 per cent.

No Passengers Killed
The fact that no passengers have been killed in train accidents for almost three years, that highway crossing accidents have been reduced from 76 killed and 180 injured in the last three years time, in face of the steadily mounting automobile traffic; and that officers and employees have shown keen cooperation in promoting the safety cause, have also been outstanding reasons why the Chicago & North Western Railway is being awarded the Gold Medal.

It is doubly significant for the Chicago & North Western to be awarded this medal in view of the fact that it was the first railroad or industry to introduce a safety-first program. Since that time, 1910, the railroad has brought about a steady reduction in its casualty (killed and injured) rate based on million man hours worked, which is the true test of safety accomplishments. The largest strides have been made during the last five years with the reduction from 18.98 in 1927 to 1.19 in 1931, or a reduction of 91 per cent in killed and injured.

41 Per Cent Reduction
In 1931 this casualty rate was reduced 41 per cent over the 2.59 of the previous year, 1930, a year when the Chicago & North Western was ranked 10th in safety.

1. Red Headlight—A special red headlight, in addition to the regular headlight, locomotives of the regular Class "H" locomotives were two Chicago and Omaha were installed to allow the engineer of an approaching train to stop, thus saving possible accidents because of track obstructions and other unsafe conditions.

2. Whistling Rules—Insistence that proper whistling signals be given as a warning of the approach of trains at crossings and the extension of the whistle cord to the fireman's side of the cab to allow a double check on approaching automobiles.

3. Gas Burners—Gas burners installed in the Chicago Passenger Terminal under switches to clear switches of snow and ice during the winter, thus preventing accidents which were formerly prevalent in the winter season.

4. Footboard Rules—Employees are prohibited from riding leading footboards of an engine in the direction of movement or to ride the leading deadwoods or drawbeams of engines in the direction of movement.

5. Safety Shoes—Employees in freight houses tire treating plants and shops must wear safety shoes, a specially constructed shoe designed to protect the foot from slipping on hot metal. Accidents were reduced by these shoes more than 90 per cent.

6. Sam Brown Belts—Red and white Sam Brown belts were put on watchmen at crossings for the double purpose of protecting the watchman from motorists and to allow the motorist to see more clearly the signal.

7. Safety Rules—Adoption of strict safety rules and rigid enforcement of same together with the holding of short accident-prevention meetings each Monday beginning the week's work. Constant check was also made of the condition of tools and premises by the Safety Department.

RAINS AID ITALIANS
On June 20, 1918 torrential rains in the mountains had so swollen the Piave that the only two little bridges which survived the intensive air and artillery fire of the Italians were swept away by a rushing flood.

This natural aid was a distinct advantage to Italian troops attempting to drive back Austrian forces. Many positions held by the Austrians within the Delta were submerged, opening channels for the Italian naval floats, each armed with 6, 9 or 12-inch guns, to penetrate the enemy lines.

On the western front Americans took German trenches in front of Cantigny, and advanced over considerable ground at Belleau Wood. British and French troops made successful raids from Ypres southward to the Oise.

The Roman Empire at its greatest strength embraced about 1,500,000 square miles.

Bemedaled Veterans in Last Tribute to Champion of Bonus Cause

It was not the first time that they had looked upon death. For these veterans, shown as they solemnly filed by the bier of Representative Edward Eslick in Washington, all were wearers of the Distinguished Service Cross and other high decorations for war-time heroism. They formed a guard of honor for the Tennessee congressman who died as he championed their bonus cause on the floor of the House. Left to right are Joseph Angelo of Camden, N. J.; Francis W. Connelly of Conshohocken, Pa.; E. J. Barry of Boston; and Edward J. Puchajda of Baltimore.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATIONS WILL CONTINUE

Observance Will Continue Until Thanksgiving Day

It is a mistake to believe, says the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, that the American people have let down in their celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of George Washington's birth, on the supposition that there has been celebration enough. The Federal Commission is in daily touch with hundreds of thousands of local committees all over the United States, every one of them more active than ever in carrying out the celebration over the period planned from the beginning—that is, from Washington's Birthday until Thanksgiving.

The other day the United States Commission received a letter from a member of one of these committees which voiced exactly the spirit which has kept these committees unrelentingly active. Said the writer of this letter: "We need this Bicentennial Celebration. It is a spiritual tonic of hope, of courage, of faith."

From another quarters the Federal Commission received a communication, also from a member of one of these local committees, which said that for years the community in which he lived had been torn by two factions. The town having committed itself to a proper celebration of the Washington Bicentennial, a committee was formed from both factions. And getting together in the work of planning this tribute to George Washington "had so filled the community with Washington's spirit that not only was the breach between opposing committee members healed, but the entire community was welded into a lastingly united whole. The residents of that city had learned the truth so movingly stated in the letter regarding this celebration as a spiritual tonic to the nation."

From countless other sources, the United States Commission receives daily testimony of this return of Washington's influence. "Everywhere Americans are turning from personal problems and local differences to join in community and national effort, as if in an instinct to make Washington again their leader in a new nationalism. The prevailing economic perplexity, far from proving a distraction, is instead the chief incentive moving the people into this new thought of country. They find present times a close copy of the doubt and perplexity and experiment that confronted Washington, and look to his ideals and wisdom to lead them again on the road to security."

Not one individual, or one community, is finding this celebration "a spiritual tonic of hope, of courage, of faith." The discovery is general. It is why the celebration of Washington's bicentennial has not lagged but is only now gathering its real momentum. Every school commencement this year has been or will be a George Washington celebration. As for the 693,371 local committees scattered over the country, they are not static bodies, formed to be mentioned in the papers; they are earnestly at work, as evidenced in newspaper reports of what they are doing. Their activities are represented in 500,000 press clippings covering the progress of the celebration, the greatest number of references ever recorded in the American press on a single subject.

Celebration in England
From England, the country whose king George Washington once opposed, have come official reports to the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission of sincere tributes to the memory of the First President of the United States as part of the celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of his birth—a celebration which has found enthusiastic participants in sixty-seven countries, uniting the world in the greatest observance ever held in honor of a national hero.

Among the most interested of the English participants in the celebration are the people of the town of Washington, County Durham. These people are so proud of their connection with the Washington family that they are using every means at their command to honor George Washington. It was in the town of Washington that the Washington family had its origin in 1183 when William de Herburn came into possession of lands in that village. Following the custom of the time Herburn took the name of his new estate, then spelled Wessington, and became founder of the Washington family.

Through the activity of Frederick N. Hill, headmaster of Washington Biddick School, many bicentennial features have been carried out in the town and vicinity. Mr. Hill has delivered several lectures on Washington based on material published by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission. George Washington portraits, also supplied by the United States Commission, have been framed and placed in public buildings in the town, including the public library, the parish church, the George Washington Lodge, Washington Freemasons, the Urban Council, the Washington Chemical Company, Ltd., and several schools and other prominent buildings.

Mr. Hill, who is also a historian, is publishing a booklet giving the history of the town and tracing George Washington's descent from the original Washingtons.

School children in the town of Washington wear on their caps the Washington crest, which is the same as George Washington's seal. The device, also hangs over the door of the Urban District Council Office and is used on the Urban District ambulance.

A suggestion, now under consideration, was made by Mr. Hill and William P. Doty, American consul at Newcastle-on-Tyne, that five schools in Washington, D. C. and five schools in the town of Washington exchange British and American flags.

Mr. Doty also reports that a special Bicentennial program was held in the Stoll Theater in Newcastle at which Sir Thomas Oliver, noted British scientist, presided. The Reverend Herbert Barnes, minister of the Church of the Divine Unity, delivered a lecture on George Washington which received favorable comment in the press. In his lecture, Reverend Barnes pointed out that it was time to regard George Washington "not as a rebel against the British Crown, but as deliverer of vast millions of mankind."

Mayor Charles J. Scott, the alderman and burgesses of the county of Borough of Northampton, sent to President Hoover, in honor of the occasion, a complimentary address which included the following expression: "Whilst we are loyal to the Union Jack we have an especially strong affection for the Stars and Stripes. We are proud of the children of the old country who, in establishing the United States of America, founded the greatest republic in the world's history. We pray that our two peoples may ever be found working side by side in every movement for the promotion of the world's peace, and a spirit of international brotherhood."

The Bristol branch of the Geographical Association has erected a tablet marking the site from which Colonel Henry Washington, an ancestor of George Washington, directed the Royalist attack on the town in 1643. The tablet features the name of George Washington as a descendant of the Colonel. The American consul, Roy W. Baker, has declared his intention to decorate the memorial on July 4 every year, and has suggested that his successors continue the practice.

The Manchester Reference Library at Piccadilly, Manchester, has on exhibition all the books in the library relating to George Washington. The display occupies three large show cases. Most of the books are opened at pages showing portraits of Washington or pictures of Mount Vernon and other places associated with him. A printed notice is also displayed stating that literature published by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission is available to readers at the American consulate. The exhibit will remain until the close of the celebration on Thanksgiving Day, November 24.

A notable Bicentennial event in Manchester was the reception held by the American consul, A. R. Thomson, in the Midland Hotel. Among the hundred and fifty guests were the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress (Councillor and Mrs. Ellis Green), the Bishop of Manchester, distinguished members of the consular corps of Manchester, and Americans residing in the district. The reception was noted in Manchester newspapers as an outstanding event.

The British press in general have commented on the occurrence of Washington's Two Hundredth Birthday Anniversary, and remarked on the appropriateness of President Hoover's Bicentennial address. The Manchester Guardian, one of the world's outstanding newspapers, ran a dignified, complimentary editorial on the great American. After summing up the good Washington accomplished for both America and England, the article concluded: "Today we may well be proud and glad that his statue stands in Trafalgar Square—looking towards the Parliament he once bullied into sense."

It is expected that other Bicentennial features will be carried out

Cape York, on the bleak northwest coast of Greenland, 600 miles north of the Arctic Circle, is the goal of the schooner Effie M. Morrisey, which sailed from New York with scientists and masons who will erect a 60-foot memorial there to Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole. The schooner as it lifted anchor is pictured above. Aboard was Mrs. Marie Ah-ni-gi-to, Stafford, of Washington (inset) daughter of Admiral Peary, with her two sons, Peary 14, and Edward, 12. ## Daily Health Talk

DEAFNESS

Loss of hearing is a widespread condition in all periods of life. It is a tragedy to the aged and a serious handicap to the young. Helen Keller, whose life has been devoted to overcoming her own handicaps of blindness and deafness, rates the latter the worse of two afflictions.

"The problems of deafness," she says, "are deeper and more complex, if not important, than those of blindness."

"Deafness means the loss of the most vital stimulus—the sound of the voice—that brings language, sets thoughts astir and keeps us in the intellectual company of man."

Hearing, particularly, is important to the child, for it is through that, as well as through the sense of sight, that it learns the nature

Steel for Floors

The home of the future, and not so very far off, will have floors of steel instead of wood and stone, according to reaction of contractors to a new steel flooring developed at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, Pa. The new flooring is made up of steel ducts and welded to structural frame members. The steel ducts are hollow and permit easy pipe and electrical installation. Advantages of the floor are said to be in more strength, less cost, and durability. A cross-section view of a steel floor is shown above.

of the world about it.

Though thoroughly dependable statistics are not available, it appears that the number of totally deaf children to be found in America substantially exceeds the number of those totally blind.

This is to be accounted for by the fact that the three major causes of blindness in the young, which were widely prevalent in former days, have now been practically eliminated.

These are smallpox, trachoma and ophthalmia neonatorum, a disease of the eye of the new-born caused by the germ of gonorrhea, and now so easily avoided by the dropping of a silver solution into the eyes of the new-born infant.

Hearing defects in children may be due either to congenital or acquired causes.

A goodly proportion, according to certain estimates, almost 50 percent, of deafness in children is congenital, that is, the children are born deaf.

The remaining 50 per cent or more of deafness is the result of diseases, many of which are preventable.

Tomorrow—Preventing Deafness.

BLANKET WOULD COVER MOST ALL OF SENIOR LOOP

Cubs' Lead Is Stretched To Two And A Half Games Yesterday

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Take a medium sized blanket, put it over the National League field, and the only clubs that might be left out in the cold would be the first-place Chicago Cubs and the last-place Cincinnati Reds.

Cold figures would put it this way: The Boston Braves, in second place, lead Pittsburgh's Pirates by one game, with the Phillies, Brooklyn Dodgers, St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants in a virtual tie for fourth place, two games behind the Pirates.

The Cubs, idle yesterday, nevertheless gained ground, their lead going to two and a half games when the Braves succumbed to Silas Johnson and the Reds, 5-0. Concord, Mass. friends of Catcher Bob Asby presented him with a check for $1,000 and Bob responded with a home run in the fourth inning. Two more Red tallies came across on George Grantham's drive into the bleachers in the fifth. Johnson gave the Braves five hits.

Singles by Paul Waner and Pie Traynor in the eighth drove in two runs and gave the Pirates a 2-1 decision over Brooklyn with Heinie Meinie chalking up a pitching victory over William Watson Clark. The Cardinals, with Jim Bottomley back at first base, trounced the Giants, 7-0, behind Tex Carleton's two-hit pitching. Bottomley drove in four runs with two home runs and a single.

The Philadelphia Athletics split even with the St. Louis Browns, winning the second game 6-3, after dropping the opener, 3-2 in 10 innings. Leroy Mahaffey's muf of a batted ball gave the Browns the deciding run in the first game. Jimmy Foxx clouted his 26th homer in the second.

The Cleveland Indians went into third place, displacing Washington's Senators, by tripping the Boston Red Sox twice, 9-3, and 6-3, while Washington was dropping an 8-5 decision to the Detroit Tigers.

TRAINING OVER FOR PRINCIPALS IN TITLE FIGHT

Sharkey And Schmeling Ready for Bout In New York Arena

New York, June 20—(AP)—The training grind is over for Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey. They've polished up their weapons, and built up strength, stamina and speed through six weeks of intensive work. Now they're ready for their 15-round battle for the heavyweight championship in Madison Square Garden's new outdoor arena on Long Island tomorrow night.

Most experts expect the fight to go the limit.

The betting remained extremely light today with champion Max still favored at 8 to 5.

Schmeling wound up his training at Kingsport, N. Y., with a five round workout against three sparring partners yesterday and left a crowd of 3,000 fully convinced that he is in top form for his title defense.

At Orangeburg, N. Y., another capacity crowd saw Sharkey box four easy rounds before breaking camp and heading for New York. The challenger weighed 203 pounds after the workout and probably will tip the beam at that poundage, heaviest of his career, at official weighing-in ceremonies tomorrow afternoon.

Schmeling has been down as low as 188 pounds recently, but probably will scale 190 or more for the fight.

The pigmy shrew, weighing 29 grams, is the smallest animal in the world.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER
Marty McManus, second baseman of the Boston Red Sox, sat in a corner of the clubhouse, wearing a woolly look. The day before he had come charging in for a slow roller and had sprained his ankle. He limped a few steps to shake hands. His legs were scarred from knee to ankle with many spike wounds. Twelve years in the majors is a long time to be standing in front of sliding runners.

"Yeah," he replied to a question, "you're bound to get scratched up once in a while. I can look at my legs and read the score of stolen bases against Boston, not to mention close force outs and two-base hits where the runner has to hit the floor at second."

OF VARIOUS VINTAGES—
"Some of these marks are old ones, dating back to when I was with the Browns. Some of 'em I got wearing a Detroit uniform. A couple of 'em are strictly fresh, 1932 stock. If you know anybody who wants to buy some scars send him around. I'll let you have a dozen cheap."

Marty limped away in search of tape. He wasn't going to take the day off even for a twisted ankle. "I think I can get around on it, all right," he said with a grin.

THE SICK MAN—
The reporter was waiting for John "Shaun" Collins, manager of the sorely beset, tail-end Red Sox. It developed that John had been severely beset himself, suffering from nausea.

Of course, nausea might be little enough to expect for a man managing a ball team that seemed hopelessly sunk in the depths of the cellar. But John's illness was not only mental but physical. He explained it himself when he came in.

"Road meals—it was something I eat."

In view of John's unhappy condition, it was decided to cut the interview short. There would be only one year ago today—A C Bostwick's Mate, Preakness winner, defeated Pittsburgher by a nose in winning the $50,000 American Derby at Washington Park. Mate covered the mile and quarter in 2:04 1-4, equalling the track record.

Five Years Ago Today— In a battle for the middleweight boxing championship of Europe, Max Schmeling of Germany defeated M. DeLange of Belgium at Dortmund. DeLange, the titleholder, retired in the 14th round.

Ten Years Ago Today— The world featherweight championship held for 10 years by Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland was declared forfeited by the New York Boxing Commission upon the champion's failure to recognize a challenge issued by Johnny Dundee. New York Italian, 130-pound king. The commission also declared vacant.

JOHNSON SHOE COMPANY TEAM LOST HARD ONE

Rockford Team Wins A Ten-Inning Game Here Sunday

The W. B. Johnson Shoe Company baseball team lost a hard fought ten inning battle Sunday afternoon to the Wig Hill team of Rockford by a score of 9 to 7. "Smoky Joe" Miller, who started the pitching for the local shoemakers was hit by a pitched ball in the fifth inning and was forced to leave the game. Up to that time, the visitors had secured but one hit, a triple, which scored a run and the Johnsonites were in the lead by a score of 5 to 1. Banzl sent over a wild one which Miller tried to get away from, but was hit in the back of the head and rendered unconscious. He was taken from the field to the office of a physician where he was treated. Miller was able to be about his duties today but was still suffering from the injury.

Banzl was wild at intervals but allowed only nine hits. Carroll Reilly went into the box for the locals after Miller had been eliminated, allowed but four hits, errors being responsible for the runs. Roy Kuhn, who played center for the locals was credited with a sensational play when he raced back after a long fly which was labeled for a homer and pulled it down with one hand, then fell into a ditch. McDonald led the hitting for the shoemakers, being credited with a home run, a triple and a single. The score

College Regatta Draws Big Crowd

By ALAN GOULD.
Associated Press Sport Editor
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 20—(AP)—The biggest college rowing battle of the year, due to break out late today along a four-mile stretch, hardly drawn once more, with Cornell and Syracuse, ancient up-state rivals, ready to fire their varsity big shells against the challenges of California and Washington.

Among the other varsity entries in the main battle, Navy, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Massachusetts Tech, in about that order, were conceded no more than an outside chance to explode a surprise torpedo among the favorites. Navy, quite appropriately set off just such a surprise year ago at the expense of Cornell, but the Middies have lost most of their championship combination and have not impressed critics as being up to their 1931 form.

Cornell, with four veterans of the 1930 varsity championship crew led by Commodore "Pete" McManus, ruled a slight favorite as Regatta Day brought crowds to Poughkeepsie by boat, train and seaplane to see one of America's colorful college sport spectacles.

Gusto Will Try To Win Arlington Race

Chicago, June 20—(AP)—M. L. Schwartz, Gusto today was ready to move from Washington park to Arlington park, where he will attempt to prove his unexpected victory in the American Derby Saturday was no mistake.

The three-year-old son of American Flag, and grandson of Man O'War, will make his next big start in the $70,000 added classic at Arlington, in which a triumph would mean a lot toward recognition as the best of the season in his division. He came out of the American Derby in excellent shape, and his trainer, Max Hirsch, predicts he will be hard to catch from now on.

Gusto's victory over Osculator, Prince Hotspur and seven others, including Stepenfitch, which wound up in seventh place was so unlooked for that he paid $21.34 for each $2 straight ticket, as well as grabbing his owner $48,200.

Collins Quits As Red Sox Manager

Boston, June 20—(AP)—The battered Boston Red Sox, left at the post in the American League, were without a pilot today. Manager John "Shano" Collins resigned after suffering 46 defeats against 11 victories this season.

The former White Sox star, who tasted the fruits of ascendancy as a member of pennant-winning Chicago teams in 1917 and 1919, wired President Bob Quinn from Cleveland yesterday that he felt he could no longer go on with a club that so often lost.

Marty McManus, aggressive second baseman, was named as acting manager until Quinn decides on a permanent pilot.

Quinn said the news was a surprise; that he had "no inkling" of the feelings of Collins. He said he gave him "every opportunity to reconsider."

Collins, the fifth manager to come and go during the nine year Quinn regime, was one of the few players to emerge unscathed from the "Black Sox" scandal of 1919.

Stubblefield Wins Chicago Auto Race

Chicago, June 20—(AP)—Howdy Wilcox of Indianapolis, runnerup in the 500-mile Indianapolis speedway race, today was only 30 points back of Fred Frame, winner of the classic, in the A. A. A. championship standing.

Wilcox yesterday finished fourth in the annual 100-mile race for points at the Roby Speedway, adding 70 points to bring his total to 660, while Frame finished tenth for ten points, giving him a total of 630.

The race was won by Stubby Stubblefield of Los Angeles, who covered the distance in 1:18:40.2.

Another Capone Figures In News

Chicago, June 20—(AP)—Another Capone figured in the newspaper headlines today—Albert Capone, the third of four surviving brothers, two of whom, Al and Ralph, have made gangland history in Chicago.

Albert was questioned by police in suburban Cicero in connection with an attempt early yesterday to bomb the home of Mayor Joseph G. Cerny, whose election last April was hailed as a death blow to the rule of the Capone gang in Cicero's affairs.

The bomb hurled from a passing automobile, failed to strike its intended mark, but ripped a hole in the sidewalk in front of the mayor's residence. Mayor Cerny and his wife were spending the week end at South Haven, Mich., at the time, and the only occupants of the place were Mrs. Cerny's sister Miss Rose Navok, and her friend, Miss Mildred Hanus. Neither was hurt.

Later Chief Sullivan ordered Capone booked for disorderly conduct and permitted his release on bond.

ARMAMENTS AND REPARATIONS IN FOR DISCUSSION

Conferences Are On In Geneva, Lausanne, Switzerland

BULLETIN
Lausanne, Switzerland, June 20. (AP)—The international debts and reparations conference was delayed today because the French and German representative were deadlocked in committees over fundamental differences as to the scope of the meeting.

The Germans insisted that the open session scheduled for tomorrow should permit debate centering about total cancellation of reparations.

The French demanded that Germany admit that she can pay something. This was in line with Premier Herriot's assertion on the opening day that cancellations of reparations is secondary in importance to action on removing tariff barriers.

It was reported this evening that Mr. Herriot had a compromise to offer as a solution of the Franco-German difficulty. Tomorrow morning's session was postponed indefinitely to permit private negotiations.

Geneva, June 20. (AP)—The United States joined in a special three-power effort here over the week-end to reach some plan by means of which the world disarmament conference might be brought to an end with a measure of success.

With President Hoover in communication, over the trans-Atlantic telephone, with the American delegation, representatives of the United States, Great Britain and France laid the plans of each country on the table and sought to find some common denominator for them.

No decision was reached, but arrangements were made to continue the discussions, extending them to representatives of other governments, especially Japan, Italy and Germany.

Those who participated in yesterday's conferences said they felt a useful preparation had been made. The Americans said they particularly got the impression the Europeans could "really determine to face realities and do business."

Senator Claude A. Swanson was chief American spokesman.

Senator Swanson asked that the American plan, which provides for a percentage reduction for all countries, after determining their defense needs by adding police needs to colonial defense requirements by placed on the agenda of the informal talks, which will be resumed tomorrow.

SIGN TARIFF PACT
Lausanne, Switzerland, June 20. (AP)—Belgium, Holland and the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg agreed today to impose no new tariffs on trade with each other and to reduce existing tariffs by ten per cent a year until a stipulated level is reached.

It was designed as the first step in a general reduction of world tariffs advocated yesterday by the six northern nations which are parties to the Oslo protocol of 1930. The larger powers are much more likely to accept this union than the combination which Austria and Germany sought to effect some months ago, inasmuch as the new combinations has none of the political aspects which made the Austro-German union objectionable.

Meanwhile Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Herriot of France indulged in a long talk this morning. It was assumed they discussed the delicate negotiations which would be necessary to put into effect Europe's own solution of the reparations problem before asking the United States to play its part.

Mr. Herriot talked this matter over with his cabinet colleagues during the week-end recess, consulting them as to how far he dare go in giving up the traditional French reparations claims without previous assurance that the United States is willing to cooperate.

Divers Ways by Which

Seeds Reach Fresh Soil

Plants cannot move themselves, but they make sure their seeds are carried to fresh soil. The dandelion and the thistle harness the wind by making it waft the fluffs which contain their seeds; the sycamore and other trees have seeds that are tiny airplanes.

The cherry, the blackberry, and countless other fruit trees press birds into their service. The hard seed is surrounded by appetizing pulp. The pulp is meant to be eaten, but the seed cannot be digested. The gorse bush anticipated by thousands upon thousands of years man's invention of the gun. Its seed pods are so devised that hot sunshine raises the pressure within them until they burst with loud pops, scattering the seeds far and wide.

Then there is the extraordinary cleverness with which plants have made insects their servants for the purpose of fertilizing. Many plants employ their own special insect and no other. Their flowers are designed to attract it, and their shape is such that they fit no other insect.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Senator Barkley of Kentucky must have read with a bit of apprehension accounts of how the keynoting of his friend Dickinson of Iowa was received at the republican national convention.

The big Kentuckian has the same sort of an assignment before him the latter part of the month. He has been given the job of stirring up the democrats and rallying them around the party standard.

But in all probability, Barkley will have an easier time of it than did Dickinson. For one thing, Chicago expects he'll have an enthusiastic audience, and that's necessary for a keynote speech to get over.

If Dickinson, on the other hand had been counting on a Fourth of July convention spirit to help him along he was disappointed.

UNEXCITED—

The republican keynoter must have felt very much alone in that vast Chicago Stadium at times. Big-voiced as he is, often he was unable to make his words penetrate the buzz of conversation and hub-bub below him.

There can be little doubt that he found it disheartening. After all it is a big moment in a man's life when he steps out before his party convention to sound the rallying cry.

He had spent hundreds of hours in the preparation of his address. Then to face yawning yawns in what expected to be jammed galleries, an apathetic floor expected to be a cheering and enthusiastic mob—it must take a fellow down a peg or two.

But then, perhaps, Dickinson anticipated something like that. He had opportunity several days before he spoke to observe the lack of any noisy enthusiasm near the convention headquarters.

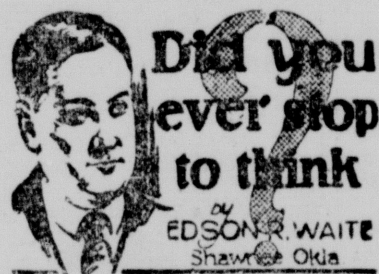

Also in the various hotels about the city there was little of the jam and crush which usually attend a pre-convention period.

WAIT FOR THE 27th—

From all indications Barkley will find himself in an entirely different atmosphere when he gets into action at keynoting on the 27th. Chicago is buzzing with gossip of what a show the democrats will put on.

It's a familiar phrase around hotel lobbies, uttered by the somewhat fatigued hangers-on: "Just wait until the democrats get here!" If all that is expected of the democrats' visit in Chicago comes true, Keynoter Barkley will have only to apply the spark. The 500 hours he estimates he will have spent on his speech by the time of delivery will have been unnecessary.

Many things point to the fact that the good ship, "Business World," has either run into the center of a cyclone or has fallen into a doldrum, which according to the textbooks, is a tropical zone of calms, ruffled only by occasional squalls. At any rate, she is in slack waters for the moment and although some captains claim she is advancing, others think she is advancing backwards.

A little backward sailing, however, tends to correct the progress towards rocks, which is effected in reckless spurts in breezy weather. It also counteracts the natural drifts that occur when the politicians are doing their turn at the wheel.

The political wheelman often are apprehensive of certain dark spots on the water, which seem to indicate the presence of rocks or snags, and then decide to detach the rudder, which may be beneficial to themselves and which might save the situation for others.

By letting the old ship of business float along, it might hit the rocks, yet it might float around them into safe water. You never can tell.

Traveling Around America

A LEAFY FLOUR MILL

OPEN up a can for her husband's dinner? Not this devoted wife! She even grinds her own meal! She dwells in a remote section of El Salvador in the manner of her great-grandmother. To us with our many mechanical aids her lot might seem a hard one, but the Indian housewife is perhaps the most contented of all the world's women. El Salvador, one of the six Central American countries visited regularly by cruises between New York and California, presents many fascinating close-ups of Indian life.

The kitchen is a leafy bower of tropical foliage, with the family wardrobe swaying from a vine and the family pig snoozing near the fire; the tables, a lattice-work of small branches supported by forked logs driven into the ground; the corn mill, a heavy stone and a slab-topped table. Here in patient, stolid Indian fashion, the housewife rolls and crushes the white corn, using enough water to keep the meal from blowing out of the kitchen, or spilling on the ground. It takes her all day to grind a two-day ration for her family.

BONUS SEEKERS TO VENT ANGER ON REPUBLICANS

Find 62 Senators Who Opposed Them Diffuse Target

Washington, June 20. (AP)—Stripped of an immediate objective by defeat of the bonus-payment bill, leaders of the vast veterans army camped here concentrated today on organizing ex-service men for election day action, making tentative overtures to the Democratic party.

Finding the sixty-two Senators who voted down their bill a rather diffuse target, the legislative committee of the army aligned itself against President Hoover and the Republican party.

Last night it voted to query all Democratic presidential possibilities on their views about the bonus and other veterans' questions, at the same time directing letters to all posts of the American Legion, and other ex-service men's organizations, informing them that an effort to place a bonus plank in the Republican platform was laughed down and filed in the waste basket. Think it over, men! "Remember November," was the significant slogan line attached to those letters.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 19.

The Golden Text was, "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handy-work" (Psalms 19:1).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Lord reigneth, he is clothed with majesty; the Lord is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is established, that it cannot be moved. Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting" (Psalms 93:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "A material world implies a mortal mind and man a creator. The scientific divine creation declares immortal Mind and the universe created by God. Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity" (p. 507).

MINNESOTA HAS BIG BALLOT IN PRIMARY TODAY

All Congressmen For State To Be Elected "At Large"

St. Paul, June 20. (AP)—Minnesotans marked the largest ballot in the history of the state in the primary election today to cut down a record field of eighty-eight aspirants for congressional office to nine for each of three parties, Republican, Democrat and Farmer Labor.

Because its reapportionment act was held invalid by the United States Supreme Court, the nominees were chosen at large today and in the general election in November selections will be made for a delegation at large instead of by districts. The state is entitled to nine Representatives.

Prohibition occupied a prominent position in the foreground of the balloting with more than sixty candidates advocating either its repeal or submission of an amendment to provide modification. Only one Democrat of twenty-one candidates was listed as favorable to the dry cause by the Minnesota Board of Strategy, an organization of dry groups. Five Farmer-Laborites of thirty-five candidates were listed as favoring prohibition by the Board with seven of 32 Republican candidates catalogued as drys. In addition 12 Republicans were listed as being favorable to prohibition although committed to proposals for resubmission of the question.

Republicans also had to select a nominee for governor, with two candidates, Earle Brown and Franklin Ellsworth, both of Minneapolis. Democrats had an internal struggle to settle involving control of the state party organization. Arthur A. Van Dyke of St. Paul, "regular," was opposed in the campaign by John E. Regan of Mankato, a member of a "rump" organization.

Farmer-Laborites had no contest for governor with the incumbent, Floyd B. Olson of Minneapolis, unopposed for the nomination.

PLANE CRASH IN OTTAWA IS FATAL TO THREE YOUTHS

Harry Hill, 27, Alleged Slayer Of Mother, One Of Victims

Ottawa, Ill., June 20. (AP)—An airplane accident has brought death to Harry Hill, 27, former Knox College student, of Streator, Ill., and heir to the estate of his mother for whose murder he was tried in 1927.

Hill and two companions, Bert Lorenz of Streator and John Marshall, 200 of Berkeley, Calif., were killed yesterday when the airplane Hill was piloting fell at the local airport. The plane made a nose dive from an altitude of about 200 feet. Hill and Lorenz died instantly while their companion succumbed on a hospital operating table. They were returning to Streator after a visit here when the accident occurred.

The jury which tried young Hill disagreed, but the case is still on the docket for re-trial, having lain dormant for several years due to a shortage of county funds to finance its prosecution. Meanwhile Hill, who maintained his innocence had been at liberty. He had been flying for several years and held a private pilot's license. Twice previously he had been injured in airplane mishaps within the last year and a half.

Body In Basement

Hill was arrested in Seattle, Wash., Sept. 2, 1927, after the body of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill was found in a grave in the basement of her Streator home. Her known opposition to her son's friendship with a young Streator woman, financial troubles and his absence from the city, turned suspicion toward him. He insisted he was innocent, asserting he fled because he feared he would be suspected of the slaying. The state's theory was that he slew his mother because he was angered at her threat to disown him if he kept signing her name to checks and if he continued to see the young woman.

Under her will Harry was left her property, which amounted to approximately $50,000. He came into the estate when he reached his 26th year. His father, a well-to-do eye, ear and nose specialist,

Nelson Crane, a Pennsylvania trapper, was somewhat bewildered one winter day when he came across hoofprints in the snow, too tiny to be attributed to any animal within his knowledge. He decided they must belong to a "pigmy deer." Later on that winter he caught the animal in a trap, but it got away. But in making its escape, it left one leg in the trap, and this was enough to clear up the mystery. The central toes of a muskrat's foot had developed abnormally and formed hoofs.

DARROW'S PLEA FOR M'WILLIAMS DUE WEDNESDAY

Supreme Court Will Hear Veteran Ask Youth's Life

Chicago, June 20—(AP)—Once more Clarence Darrow will raise his voice before the Supreme Court of Illinois Wednesday with a plea that the life of 17-year-old Russell McWilliams be spared.

McWilliams is sentenced to die in the electric chair this Friday for the slaying of a Rockford, Ill., street car conductor in a holdup. Once before the youth awaited execution in the death cell of the state penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., but the eloquent plea of Darrow before the Supreme Court helped win him a new trial.

The second hearing was held in the Rockford Circuit Court and the sentence was re-imposed. Friday being fixed as the date of its execution.

Darrow, ill after the strain of the Massie case in Hawaii, was unable to appear on McWilliams' behalf at the second trial. The defense indicated denial by court of petitions for change of venue and plea would furnish basis for part of Darrow's plea.

British Columbia

The events leading up to the founding of British Columbia were as follows, says an article in the Montreal Family Herald, in June, 1858, it was reported in California that gold in abundance had been found on the mainland of North America, a little to the north and east of Vancouver island, and there was an immediate rush of gold seekers to the vicinity. James Douglas, governor of Vancouver island, showed ability in preserving order. The territory, with adjacent islands, was made a British colony and called British Columbia and was placed under Mr. Douglas. The colony was formally nominated and the government settled in August, 1858. Vancouver island was incorporated with the colony in 1860 and Victoria made the capital in 1858. British Columbia joined the Dominion of Canada in 1871.

Who was Who?

By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

HARUN AL-RASCHID

ALMOST as thrilling as Sinbad, or Aladdin, or any of the fascinating tales by which Scheherazade through a "Thousand and One Nights" entertained the caliph of Bagdad and saved her own life, is the story of the caliph himself.

The caliph of the "Arabian Nights" was Harun al-Raschid, ruler of Bagdad during its palmy days in the Eighth century. His story is made up of the very stuff of romance: harem intrigues, poisonings, splendid gifts, hideous torments, with which his high-handed slaughter of many brides after a single night of marriage is quite compatible, though not authenticated by history. Scheherazade, who won his permanent affection by her gifts as story-teller, was a lady of high birth.

Harun al-Raschid was son of the Caliph Mahdi and a freed slave girl, who ordered his own concubines to kill her eldest son, the rightful heir, in order to set her youngest and favorite in the throne of an empire then extending from Spain to India. At first, under the wise administration of his grand vizier, Yahia the Barmecide, the empire flourished and Harun devoted himself to luxury, pleasure and the arts. Later a quarrel between the caliph and the barmecides led to the execution of Yahia, his four sons and all their descendants, and the ultimate downfall of the empire in rebellious disorder. The caliph himself died in a manner quite unworthy of a fairy story hero—of apoplexy.

Dead Jungle Denizens

Food for Living Things
It is a fact that the carcasses of elephants are rarely found. But for that matter, travelers come upon the bodies of very few of the other animals of the jungles, though hundreds of thousands die every year.

In the tropics, where every living thing is eternally hungry and where life abounds as nowhere else on earth, a fleshy body has little chance for permanence. A dying elephant seeks out a quiet place where he can be alone with his strange experience, but that is not the reason why man seldom sees later such of him as was mortal. Bacterial life, and other insects, small animals, vultures—all serve speedily to dispose of the dead. Nature's own sanitary methods quickly obliterate the being which has served her own purposes. A few hours is usually sufficient to do away with a carcass; that is why few dead elephants are found.

It is for the same reason that of the millions of mighty creatures that walked the earth in prehistoric times, so few, comparatively, have left unmistakable evidences that they existed.

Only the animals which died in circumstances especially favorable to their preservation, such as those buried in swamps or by sands, are found now, to be mounted in museums and reconstructed for students.

Fighting Men Quick to Appreciate the Horse

It is generally held that the horse came originally from beyond the Euphrates, in Armenia, where Noah's ark was stranded, and where, as a war charger and chariot or cavalry horse, soon caused it to be tamed and exported to other countries, and Bible students will remember that Holofernes had 12,000 mounted archers (Judith II:15). Probably the Egyptian horsemen, which accompanied Joseph and his brethren on their pilgrimage to Canaan for the purpose of burying

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 10-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter. She begins to laugh. The kitten had raised one velvety paw and with experimental gestures was investigating Cherry's ear.

They are married and for the first time Cherry finds out what it means to lack money. Her struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome MAX PEARSON, who also works on the News.

Cherry receives a letter from her mother enclosing a check for $500. She returns the check because pride will not let her keep it. A young woman who lives in the same apartment building attempts to seduce her. That evening when Dan arrives he tells Cherry he has something for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

DAN grinned down at her. "I'll give you three guesses," he announced. "What do you think I have?"

"Is it something for me?" Cherry asked.

"Yes."

"But I haven't the slightest idea!"

"You can guess, can't you?" Dan insisted. "What would you think it's likely to be—a Rolls-Royce or the crown jewels of England or—"

A faint cry, plaintive and high-pitched, interrupted him. It came from Dan's coat pocket. It was repeated, this time louder. An unmistakably kittenish "Meow!"

"A kitten! Oh, let me see it!" Cherry cried. "Where did you get it, Dan? Oh, you little darling, you!"

This last was addressed to the wriggling ball of gray fur that had emerged from Dan's pocket. The kitten, balancing in Dan's two hands, looked about on this new world in which it found itself and emitted another "Meow!"

"Cute, isn't it?" Phillips asked. Cherry had taken the kitten and was holding it nestled against her shoulder. The warm, soft fur touched her cheek. The girl's eyes were bright as a child's.

"It's adorable!" she told him. "Did you know I've always wanted a kitten? That's another thing I could never have at home. But where did you get it? Can we really keep it?"

"We can if you want to. I stopped at the drug store on the corner for cigarettes. There were four of these little fellows there with their mother. One was black and the others were sort of gray striped. I thought this one was the cutest and the man said he'd be glad to give it to us. It's not quite a month old yet."

The kitten seemed eminently contented with its perch on Cherry's shoulder. It was purring now—a miniature singsong that could barely be heard.

Jacob in the grave of his ancestors, were cavalymen sent by Pharaoh to protect the cavalcade from prowling bands of mounted Bedouins.

Syria, and no doubt heathen Canaan, employed horses in war, but the Israelites were forbidden to imitate them and in obedience to divine command hamstring any of the chargers they captured. Job, who may have lived long before the Exodus, knew the horse only as a fleet, strong and handsome animal to be used in war. His description of the noble animal (Job XXXIX) as translated in the Authorized Version of the Bible, will always be admired by horsemen, indeed by all who feel the thrill of majestic, perfectly expressed language.

Secretary Stimson, this source said, called the Ambassador's attention to American Consular reports from Manchuria describing efforts of the Pu-Yi government to establish a customs autonomy there and assume control of all Chinese customs offices, including that at Dairen, which is on Japanese-leased territory.

The British Ambassador, Sir Francis Lindley, also visited the Foreign Office here and discussed the same situation. It was understood the powers fear the matter threatens the integrity of the whole portion of China's foreign indebtedness is secured.

The Foreign Office here takes the attitude that the situation does not justify the powers in reproaching Japan in any way. Japan disclaims all responsibility in the matter and all intention of interfering. Japan, like America and Great Britain, is a creditor of China, a government spokesman said, and is interested that the service on its Chinese credits be secured on the same basis as the Pu-Yi government, although claiming a customs autonomy would continue somehow to pay Manchuria's share of the debt services.

Where Nerve Is Needed
To cross the Jhelum river in India by means of its restless, rawhide rope bridge, is a nerve-wracking experience for novices. In remote sections of China there are similar rope bridges that are worked on a different principle. In these Chinese bridges there are two ropes of twisted vegetable fiber, one slanting down from an elevation at one side of the river to the water's edge on the other side, and the other slanting down in the opposite direction. The Chinese simply fasten a wooden sliding block on to the rope, and—zip—they are on the other side of the river.

Cherry laughed. "Of course not, silly. What could I be wanting? Oh, Dan, you and I do have so much! We ought to be so thankful!"

SHE told him about Miss Jamieson who had lived on the top floor and was now at the City Hospital. The recital of the story sobered both of them. For some time after the meal had ended they sat in silence.

All at once Cherry cried out. "It's the kitten! It must be hungry!" Little Pinky's front paws pressing against her ankle had startled the girl. She filled a saucer with milk but the kitten was not interested. Try as they would they could not make Pinky drink until Dan filled a teaspoon and poured it down the kitten's throat. Pinky coughed, licked the milk from his whiskers and decided to try a gulp for himself.

The kitten's antics kept them amused most of the evening. It chased paper balls attached to a string. It climbed into boxes and out of them and once, when Dan threw down a newspaper, the kitten crawled under it and had what must have been the most exciting adventure of its brief life getting out.

"It's going to be company for me when I'm here alone," Cherry said. "I don't see how I'll ever have a dull moment with that little rascal around."

"You'll probably wish that little rascal was 100 miles away a good many times!"

The girl was sure that she would not. The kitten finally went to sleep in her lap and Cherry transferred it to its pillow so gently that it did not awaken.

It had been an eventful day. She and Dan sat in the window seat and looked out on the night. Moonlight streamed over the patch of ground below that by day was nothing more than a weed-grown space where laundry flapped in the breeze. Tonight it might have been a garden. Ugly buildings took on grace from the black shadows. The faint scent of plumb blossoms came from a tree across the alley.

Cherry put up a hand and touched Dan's cheek. "We've so much to be thankful for," she whispered.

IT was the middle of the next morning and Cherry was frowning over the cookbook when there was a knock at the door. She arose and opened it.

"Oh—good morning!" Cherry said. "Won't you come in?" Mrs. Moreau, from the floor above, stood in the hall.

"I haven't time to stop," she said, "but I thought you'd like to know Miss Jamieson is going to get well. I've just been talking to the janitor. He said the hospital found she had an aunt in Chicago and they got in touch with her. She's coming—the aunt I mean—and if she has

"Do you hear it?" Cherry demanded. "It's singing. Oh, of course we'll keep it! And it was sweet of you to bring it, Dan." She began to laugh. The kitten had raised one velvety paw and with experimental gestures was investigating Cherry's ear.

"Put it down," Dan suggested. "Let's see what it thinks of the place."

Cherry set the kitten on the floor. It was completely gray except for a white line down the center of its forehead, rounding out in a symmetrical arc of white about its nose and mouth. As though aware of their scrutiny the little animal backed slowly away from Cherry and Dan, stopped and gazed up at them.

"Well, I'll be darned!" laughed Dan. "Would you look at the little beggar giving us the once over?"

CHERRY was down on her knees beside the kitten again. "I know what I'm going to call it," she announced. "Did you ever see anything so pink as that nose? I'm going to call it 'Pinky.'"

"That's a swell name for a gray cat!"

"Why, I think it's a grand name—and anyhow that's what it's going to be."

Their own meal was forgotten in their interest in the new pet. Presently, however, the kitten was left curled up on a pillow on the floor and Cherry and Dan sat down to dinner.

Dan broke a roll and buttered it. "Well," he said, "I had a piece of welcome news today."

"What was it?"

"Your husband, Madam, is the winner of the $5 bonus for the best written news story of the week."

"Oh, Dan, I'm glad!"

"So'm I. That five bucks will help out considerably in our financial status. But that's not all. Two of the fellows who have been kicking me for the last six months kicked in with $12 more. I'd forgotten about both of them. Yes, it looks as though we can pay our bills and stay out of debtors' prison after all. My check Saturday will pay the rent for another month and this $17 will carry us over the week."

"It's worked out wonderfully, hasn't it?" Cherry asked. She said it so fervently that the young man across the table looked up.

"I had some news today too," the girl went on. She told Dan about the check from her mother and about sending it back. When she had finished Dan leaned across the table and took her hand. His eyes were troubled.

"You're sure you want to do that?" he asked. "Of course I couldn't have let you spend any of that money for our living expenses or for me but you might have bought something for yourself. Clothes maybe. Or—whatever girls buy."

MANCHURIA IS SEIZING CHINA CUSTOM MONEYS

U. S. And Great Britain Protest Pu-Yi's Confiscations

Tokyo, June 20—(AP)—The question of confiscation of the Chinese customs revenues in Manchuria by Henry Pu-Yi's government has been called to the attention of Japanese Ambassador Debuchi at Washington by Secretary of State Stimson, it was learned from an official quarter here today.

Secretary Stimson, this source said, called the Ambassador's attention to American Consular reports from Manchuria describing efforts of the Pu-Yi government to establish a customs autonomy there and assume control of all Chinese customs offices, including that at Dairen, which is on Japanese-leased territory.

PLATINUM IS ARISTOCRAT OF PRECIOUS METAL

Many Uses For Costly Metal Reported In News Bulletin

Washington, D. C. —Platinum is invading new fields. Platinum leaf and plating are among the most recent developments of the industry.

"Platinum is one of the aristocrats of metals," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Popular in Jewelry Industry
"A pound of platinum is worth more than two pounds of gold, but a little platinum goes a long way. Normally about six tons is required annually to supply a metal-hungry world. The metal can be rolled and beaten into a leaf two hundred-thousandths of an inch thick. A cubic inch can be drawn into an almost invisible wire that could be wound twice around the world at the Equator."

"Because it is costly and may be artistically patterned, more than half of the world's supply of platinum is sold over the jewelry counter. The modern jeweler's show cases display platinum rings and rings of other metals with platinum settings for precious stones, platinum and platinum-plated watch cases enclosing works with platinum pivots, rouge and powder boxes, pins, vases, flower and fruit bowls, various ornaments, and tableware."

How New York Savings Banks Buy Public Utility Bonds

Stringent legal requirements limit the investments of mutual savings banks to certain very high-grade bonds. The remarkable past record of these institutions attests to the dependability of the highly conservative principles that guide their investment policies.

In order to illustrate what I mean by "stringent legal standards" let me describe briefly some of the main requirements for an issue of public utility bonds if it is to prove acceptable as a legal investment for mutual savings banks in New York. I choose the New York laws because they are considered a model, having been most recently revised, and thus embodying most of the precautions which experience has shown necessary in handling savings bank funds. I choose public utility bonds because they have been increasingly favored by mutual savings banks in view of their demonstrated strength, and earning power.

The salient requirements of the New York law cover such basic features as the source of the utility company's income, the size of its capital stock to its mortgage debt, the size of the bond issue in question, the nature of the mortgage security, the ratio of the mortgage debt to property value, and the ratio of net earnings to fixed charges. To be more specific:

At least seventy-five per cent of the company's gross operating income must be derived from supplying electricity or manufactured gas or a combination of the two. The same provision applies to natural gas when purchased from another company.

Not more than fifteen per cent of the company's gross operating income may be derived from any other single source.

The company must have franchises covering territory in which at least seventy-five per cent of its gross income is earned.

The fully paid capital stock of the company must be at least two-thirds of the total mortgage debt.

The company must have been in existence for at least eight years prior to the qualification of its bonds as legal investments.

It must be subject to the regulation of a public service commission, or similar regulatory body in this country.

For at least five years before qualification, the company's net earnings after depreciation must have averaged each year not less than twice the average annual interest charges on its funded debt.

For the same five-year period, gross operating revenues of the company must have averaged not less than $1,000,000 annually.

In order for such a company's bonds to be "legal" they must be part of an issue of not less than $1,000,000.

The bonds must be first mortgage or first and refunding mortgage liens.

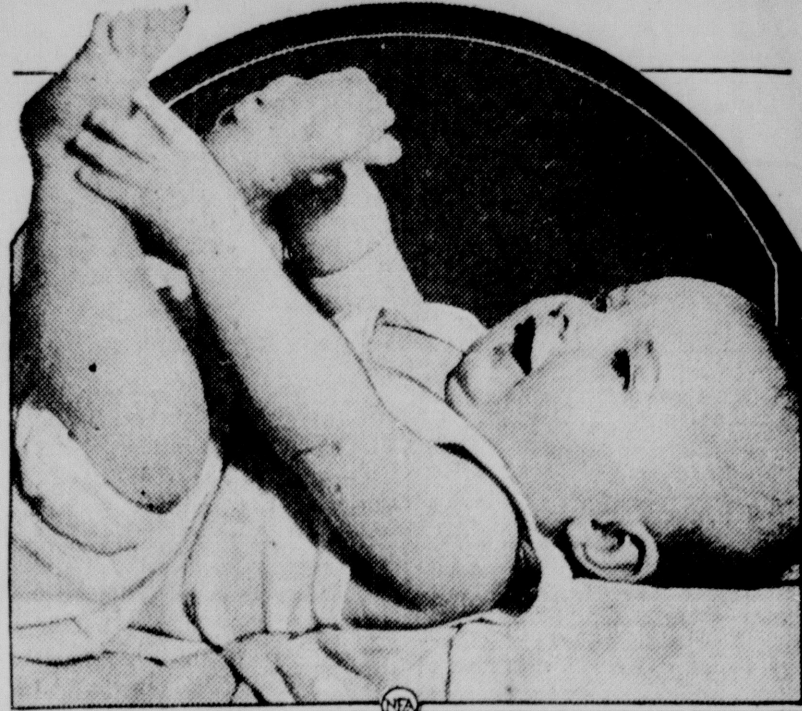

The principal amount of bonds, together with all equal and underlying bonds outstanding, may not exceed sixty per cent of the value of the physical property owned and subject to the mortgage lien.

These and similar stringent requirements are established by law in New York State to assure depositors in mutual savings banks that their funds will be invested only in the most conservative bonds. The investments of mutual savings banks in such conservative issues have been mainly responsible for their splendid record.

And so I say individual investors, who now seek some definite assurance that the securities they buy meet exacting requirements, might well consider bonds which conform to the "legal" standards set for investments by mutual savings banks. When such ultra-conservative bonds can be bought at prices to yield the prevailing liberal rates of income, there is all the more incentive for considering such securities.

Everything's Just Perfect

What with politics and all, probably no one would have noticed Sheila Christina McCormick if she hadn't decided to play with her toes. Sheila is just six months old. Child experts, doctors, even the mothers of other entrants, pronounced her an absolutely perfect baby at the annual Toledo, O., baby clinic.

trains, ships and airplanes, it contributes to modern transportation and business.

"Dentists use platinum-plated pins to secure pivot teeth; the metal aids construction engineers in blasting obstructions for new projects; the surgeon uses a gold, platinum-tipped needle to sew wounds; platinum used in connection with X-ray apparatus aids the physician in diagnosing human ills. It helps produce the farmer's fertilizer; it is also a valuable tool of the rayon manufacturer."

Valuable in Chemical Industry
"Because platinum has a high melting point and it is not affected by contact with most acids, it is one of the mainstays of the chemical laboratory, where platinum crucibles, pans, strainers and furnace parts are extensively used. One of its chief laboratory uses, however, is as a sort of 'middle-man,' or catalyst. When placed in certain solutions, platinum makes the solutions change their natures, yet the metal itself is not affected. Manufacturers of ammonia and sulphuric acid use platinum in this way in their processes."

"For the first time, the United States Government recently struck off two platinum medals at the Philadelphia Mint. They are master copies of the medal designed for the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission."

"Platinum once was worn in the form of nose rings and perforated spangles by the Indians of South America, but it was not until the middle of the eighteenth century that Europe first learned that the metal had merit. Some of the first platinum taken to Spain by the South American colonists was made into bricks and sold as gold bricks because gold was then more valuable. Platinum was not discovered in Russia until about a hundred years ago. From 1828 to 1845, Russia issued platinum coins. Counterfeiters at first gold-plated platinum coins and passed them as gold coins. The coinage ceased because the value of the platinum came to exceed the face value of the coins and many were exported to foreign countries."

"Platinum is widely distributed over the world, each continent has at least one known source. Russia has been a leading platinum producer for many years, with Canada, South Africa, Colombia and Burma also supplying a large share of the world's supply. Alaska, California, Nevada, Oregon and Utah are the leading United States sources."

"In most platinum producing regions, the metal is a by-product of gold, silver, copper and nickel mining, but in Russia gold is a by-product of platinum mining."

"Practically all platinum except that produced in South Africa, comes from placer mines, that is, from beds of rivers that have washed down rocks containing the metal. While individuals still pan for platinum as the Forty-niners did for gold in the streams of California, large dredges now are employed in the industry."

Hawaiian Cloaks Now Prized by Collectors

Yellow was the royal color in old Hawaii, as it was in Imperial China. Kamehameha granted his warriors the right to wear feather cloaks and helmets much as the knights of medieval Europe used their crests and coats-of-arms. Only men were permitted to weave the cloaks, working the yellow feathers into firm webbing. Some of the cloaks were full length, others were shoulder capes with designs worked into them in red feathers. From the long cloaks one realizes how tall some of the warriors must have been; and it is self-evident that they must have been imposing figures with the brilliant yellow garments wrapped about their mahogany-hued bodies, the yellow helmets on their proud heads. The helmets, incidentally, are pure Greek or Roman in design. The salute of the warriors was the uplifted arm of the Roman legionnaire, revived by Mussolini for his Fascists. And here is a field for considerable speculation.

"The cloaks are now especially valuable because the little yellow birds, the 'oo' and the 'mamo,' are extinct. The plumage of thousands of the birds went into one long cloak. In modern Hawaii, when the descendants of the old race meet on state occasions, the visitor sees them resplendent in yellow capes, cloaks and helmets, fashioned, alas, of crepe paper! Sic transit gloria mundi!"

It is said that five million years ago the sun weighed about twice as much as it does now.

NEW YORK VOTE FOCAL POINT IN DEMOCRATS' VIEW

Pre-Convention Skirmishing Is For That State's 94 Votes

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—New York, with her 94 votes, became the sudden focal points of Democratic pre-convention skirmishing here today as leaders of Governor Roosevelt looked to the Empire State to make a choice for him in the quarrel with Alfred E. Smith.

The Roosevelt captains say the New York decision, expected to be announced soon after the arrival of the delegation heads here Wednesday, will put their man "over the top."

James A. Farley of New York, head of the newly-established Roosevelt camp here, won't comment on the probable decision in his state, but he smiles and insists "Roosevelt will win on the first ballot—I mean that."

But there are about as many claims as there are candidacies in Democracy's swiftly gathering convention conflict on this historic battleground and a lot of milling around is in prospect before the gavel falls next Monday.

Candidates in Spotlight
The prohibition dispute which divided the recent Republican convocation is losing the spotlight to the presidential race among the Democrats.

Friends of Roosevelt are snapping up the repeal substitute rejected by the Republicans as their banner for the 1932 campaign. This proposes submission of a repeal amendment to the states with control of the liquor traffic to be returned to the states in event of repeal.

In the melee over the presidency, the ancient two-thirds nomination rule of the Democrats is up again for its customary round of speculation. There seem to be well founded reports that some high in the Roosevelt council would eliminate this rule in favor of a majority nomination if their candidate goes over the majority line and a deadlock ensues.

But the decision is going to wait the last minute developments on the convention scene here next week—developments particularly in the New York delegation.

Has Near Majority
Today Roosevelt has 563 pledged and claimed votes. Indiana's 30 will be picked late in the day or tomorrow. A majority of the convention is 578 and two-thirds is 770.

A whirl of pre-convention activity has brought decisions on many routine affairs. For Roosevelt, it was announced that Arthur F. Mullen, Nebraska's hard-fisted National committeeman, would be the floor manager and Mack the nominating speaker. Mack placed Roosevelt in nomination twenty-two years ago for his first public office—state senator.

For Governor Ritchie of Maryland, it was announced by his campaign manager, Robert B. Ennis of Baltimore, that Senator Tydings of Maryland would place the Governor in nomination and that Richard F. Cleveland of Baltimore, son of the former President, would make a seconding speech. Howard Bruce, National Committeeman of Maryland, will be the floor manager.

William G. McDoom, a leader of the advocates of Speaker Garner is due here tomorrow or Wednesday to join in an active campaign. Senator Tom Connally of Texas already has been named as the man to nominate the Speaker.

HOOSIERS MEET
Indianapolis, June 20.—(AP)—A Democratic state platform plank calling for submission of a resolution for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and for repeal of the Wright "bone dry" law, Indiana's stringent enforcement act, was considered by party leaders today as delegates assembled for the state convention.

An advisory committee worked over the formation of a proposed platform for presentation to the convention resolutions committee, which will be selected tonight. Delegates from each congressional district will meet tonight to select members of the Resolutions committee, and delegates to the national Democratic convention. The convention tomorrow will nominate the state ticket. Candidates for Governor are Paul V. McNutt of Bloomington, former National Commander of the American Legion, John E. Frederick, Kokon-

NO DEFECTIONS

Fitchburg, Mass., June 20.—(AP)—M. Fred O'Connell of Fitchburg, a Smith-pledged delegate to the Democratic national convention who took with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt Saturday led to reports of defection in the ranks of Massachusetts convention delegates, has dispelled the defection talk with a statement that his visit to the New York Governor was purely social.

"I was delighted to accept the invitation just as I would have been to meet any other distinguished citizen. I had a very nice chat with Mr. Roosevelt. It was largely reminiscent."

"Nothing was said about alienating my support of Smith."

I was elected as a Smith delegate and will support Mr. Smith."

Dutch Offered to Sell Manhattan to Bavaria

New York might have been a Bavarian town had the British not occupied New Amsterdam at the decisive moment and forcibly made the Dutch settlement an English colony, ancient documents discovered in the Munich archives disclosed.

In 1664, the documents show, negotiations were under way between the Bavarian elector, Ferdinand Maria, and a group of Dutch diplomats for the sale of Manhattan island and the surrounding territory which the Dutch had possessed since 1624. The British move upset their plans.

A scheme of Dr. Johann Joachim Becher, Bavaria's financial adviser, provided for the acquisition of colonies and the creation of a Bavarian navy. His efforts were advocated warmly by the elector, Ferdinand Maria. Bavaria's search for colonies was born out by the Thirty Years' war, which had ravaged the country and exhausted the state treasury.

Encouraging the Teacher
The first-grade teacher was trying to instruct one of the "yearlings" in the application of colored crayon to some pictures at hand. The teacher took the crayons, explaining why she chose blue here, and green there.

Jean, the little girl being thus instructed, thought the teacher deserved encouragement, so she blushed at the thought of her efforts and burst out:

"You know, teacher, I think you're mighty good on taste."

COUNTY RELIEF COMMITTEES TO MEET TUESDAY

Will Confer With State Emergency Commission At Capital

The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission since its creation by the General Assembly on February 1, 1931, has developed a program of state aid for unemployment relief in almost a third of all the counties and affecting more than half the population of the state. On the present date there are thirty-two Illinois counties participating in this State aid.

In each county participating in the program there has been created the County Emergency Relief Committee to serve as the agent of the State Commission in the county. On these the county committees have been appointed men and women with ability and public spirit. Under the leadership of the State Commission these committees are giving devoted service to stimulation of local resources, the improvement of local methods of relief administration and cooperation with the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. Whatever success has attended the operation of this state relief program is due largely to these county committees.

A meeting of all county committees has been called by the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission for tomorrow in Springfield. This will be the first meeting of its kind. It will be the first time that persons active on the relief job in the most distressed areas of the State have met to discuss problems and plans.

Present at the meeting will be the members of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. Mr. Edward L. Ryerson, Jr., Chairman, will speak, as will also Mr. William H. Sexton, a member, and Mr. Wilfred S. Reynolds, Executive Secretary. The working of three county committees will be described by members from those committees.

Two very important matters in connection with the Illinois Emergency Relief Fund will be dealt with. The first is the passage of the bond issue at the November election. The problem is now to let the voters understand that in order to prevent an increase in the State property levy the bond issue must be passed; that a vote against the bond issue is a vote in favor of raising the property levy. A vote for the bond issue is a vote in favor of having each county repay what it gets out of its own gasoline tax funds.

The other question concerns the need for additional relief funds in Illinois and the probable source of these funds. The present Illinois Emergency Relief Fund will be exhausted by the end of the year.

The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission is now in the process of raising a new fund of $1,000,000 to be used for relief purposes.

A Shawl Effect Distinguishes This Dress

By JOAN SAVOY
NEA Service Writer

Summer frocks have a habit of shouldering the new vogue for intrigue in feminine fashions in a manner that is as flattering as it is interesting. Girls that are satisfied to let their skirts hang in straight unadorned lines get busy, in most instances, and do something about their necklines.

This garden party dress of yellow softened mouseline de sole uses an entirely new shawl effect, which stands up a little from the neck, and extends across the shoulders to the place where the large puffed sleeves join it. These sleeves, which are interesting enough to hold all sorts of tricks, are sewn to the collar. The shawl collar is shirred in front and hangs loosely across the bust.

Fitting for Summer

The frock is tightly fitted from the bust to a place a little below the hips. From there it grows lavish with its material again and flares with a double mouseline de sole skirt. A wide brown cue sash encircles the waist and ties an exciting looking bow at the back.

A leghorn hat, decorated with a brown ribbon, and trimmed with cornflowers and yellow and white buttercups, completes the costume. All in all, it is as feminine as any ensemble could be, and succeeds in setting up an air of mystery without sacrificing any of its demure enchantment.

Small Wonder Greeks Venerated "Gas Plant"

Among the old inhabitants of country gardens, cultivated for their showy flowers and fragrance, there is none more enduring, once established and few which possess more unusual characteristics than Dictamnus fraxinella, commonly called the gas plant or burning bush. In English gardens, where it is more extensively cultivated than in this country, it is known as fraxinella and dittany. Dittany or dittany (obviously contractions of dictamnus) was the popular name of the plant a century or more ago. One finds reference to it and its properties (real and imaginary) in old prose and verse.

The ancient Greeks, no doubt, were familiar with the inflammable nature of the inflorescence. It would be only natural for those old Greeks to regard these strange burning bushes, growing on Mount Ida, the mystic birthplace of Zeus, with awe and superstition. Even in this enlightened day and age there is something almost uncanny about the way in which the flower heads are enveloped in a bluish flame when a lighted match is applied on a warm summer evening.

A well-established specimen of the gas plant will continue to thrive in the same spot for several generations. Instances have been reported of gas plants being in gardens, in the same positions, for more than a century.

ABELARD AND HELOISE

IN THE Paris cemetery of Pere-Lachaise, on summer Sundays, the sentimental still lay wreaths on the tomb of two lovers, who died a most 800 years ago, but are hero and heroine of a love story which still lives on in the famous "Love Letters of Abelard and Heloise."

Abelard was a brilliant and handsome young professor who by the time he was twenty-five was attracting thousands to his open-air speeches for the rights of the individual to make his own intellectual investigations. In time he came to verbal blows with the venerable St. Bernard himself, who stood for traditional authority.

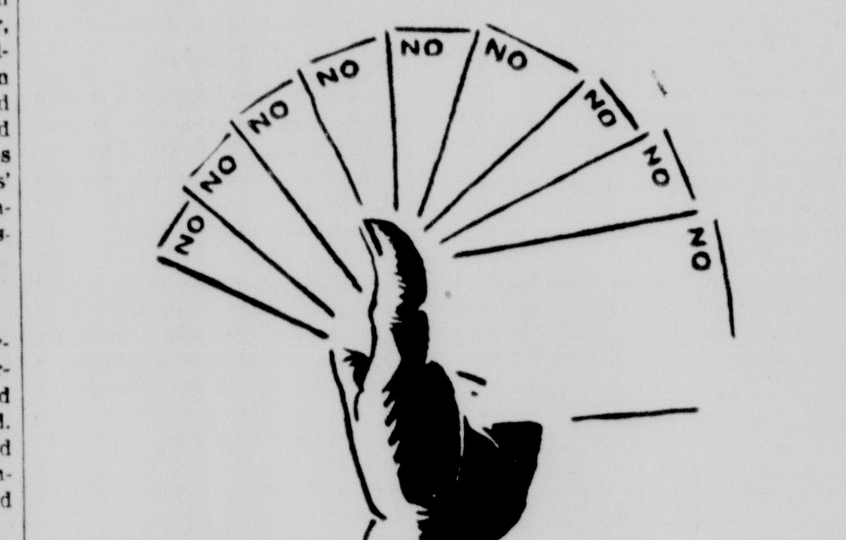

In 1117 Abelard was hired by the canon of the Episcopal school in Paris to tutor his beautiful niece, Heloise, then just seventeen. The pair fell madly in love and fled together to Brittany, where there was a secret marriage. The relatives of Heloise followed the couple, found and separated them, and the canon further hired men to invade Abelard's rooms and brutally mutilate him. Abelard in despair entered the monastery of St. Denis, and Heloise, at his instigation, became a nun.

Ten years later Heloise learned that his retirement had not brought her lover peace and wrote the first of five famous love letters in which is revealed the tragedy of two noble souls who tried to forget each other but could not. Abelard died in 1142; Heloise twenty years later. (© 1932, Western Newspaper Union.)
